Three Killed In Bus Crash

Lake County's traffic death toll rose by at least three Tuesday when a bus skidded and overturned on Highway 41, north of Gurnee. The driver and 46 women were reported injured, some seriously. There were 49 women and the driver in the bus, according to Chief Deputy Norris Froelich.

The bus reportedly skidded on the wet pavement and hit a bridge abutment, then overturned, pinning several women in the wreckage. The accident happened at 3:26 p.m. Tuesday, according to sheriff's office records.

Rescue squads, ambulances and sheriff's squads rushed to the scene of the accident. Both of Antioch's Rescue Squad trucks went to the scene and aided in the care of the injured, though the trucks were not needed for ambulance service.

The women were all from Milwaukee. The bus was a Wisconsin Coach Lines bus which had been chartered by the group for the trip. They had toured a cosmetics plant in Morton Grove.

One woman lost an arm, another a leg, in the accident. The three dead women are Mrs. Angela Santarelli, 45; Mrs. Jean Posto, 33, and Mrs. Stella Cieske, 61, all of Milwaukee.

The driver, Clarence Lorch, Sr., of Waukegan, Wis., was in critical condition in St. Therese Hospital. He reportedly suffered a skull fracture.

Some of the injured were taken to St. Therese Hospital, some to Zion-Benton Hospital.

It took 30 minutes, according to those on the scene, to get a wrecking truck that could lift the bus and free some of the women. During this time, sheriff's deputies reported, one woman was trapped with her arms sticking out of the window and pinned between the side of the bus and the ground.

Some of the women were treated at the hospital and released. Twenty-three were kept overnight.

Sheriff's deputies were still working Wednesday morning, according to Froelich, verifying names of the occupants of the bus.

Review Past As Hickory School Closes

Graduates and former teachers of Hickory School, and their families, are invited to a get-together at the school on Sunday, June 7, from 2 to 5 p.m.

Hickory School closes its doors permanently with the end of this school year. Next year, Hickory students will attend the Oakland Grade School.

The Board of Education of Hickory school is sponsoring the gathering, and is being assisted by some of the former students. Mrs. Eva Edwards Ailing, 122 N. Jackson St., Waukegan, is preparing a School History which will be read at about 3 p.m. next Sunday at the gathering.

The Mothers' Club of the school will serve refreshments at the affair. Former teachers and students, who cannot attend, but have pictures or clippings to contribute, are asked to call Mrs. Helen Pedersen Nelson, 1054 Victoria St., Antioch.

Schedule Tests For New H. S. Students

Ninth graders who will be entering Antioch Community High School next fall will be asked to take placement tests on Monday, June 8, if they have not already been tested.

The students are asked to report to Room 107 in the high school at 8 a.m. on June 8. They should be through about 11:30 a.m.

Students who do not take the Placement tests will meet with considerable delay in getting their programs on the opening day of school, according to J. W. Kemmerer, Guidance Coordinator.

Summer School Opens June 11th

Final registration date for this year's session of summer school at Antioch Community High School will be Wednesday, June 10. The first day of the summer session will be June 11. The last day a student can enter a class is Monday, June 15. The last day of summer school is Thursday, July 23.

Summer school permits students to earn extra credits toward graduation, so that they can finish sooner; to make up work which they have failed to complete during the regular term; to occupy youths who otherwise might be idle, and to offer courses of special content which are not available during the regular school term.

Fees are $20.00 for each semester in which the student is enrolled, and book rental fee is 50c per subject per semester. No fee is charged for Driver Education and Safety Education for students 21 years old and under who qualify for state reimbursement.

A student may enroll for one or two subjects, and will earn one-half credit for each subject carried successfully. There will be two periods—one from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m., the other from 10:10 a.m. to 12:10 p.m.

Students supply their own transportation. It is recommended that pre-high school students sign for non-credit subjects for the purpose of improving their subject matter background.

It is important that students sign up early, as classes will be cancelled before school opens if there is insufficient registration.

Among the courses being offered which are not available during the school year are Personal Typing, Field Biology, Latin American History and Stagecraft.

For further information, parents or students may call the school office weekdays from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., or Saturdays from 8 a.m. to noon.

Charters Issued

The office of the Secretary of State has announced that the Glen Tool Co. of Antioch has increased its authorized shares from 300 npv to 290,50 npv.

A charter was issued to Laursen & Blackman Sewer & Water, Inc., 822 Corona Ave., Antioch, to John M. Blackman and John C. Sobey, to carry on the business of builders and contractors.

GEORGE SWOPS, chairman of the Building and Grounds committee, and Mrs. George Isham remove a window from Allendale's old gym, symbolic of ground-breaking ceremonies, as Mrs. Thomas Paine and Ty Walls, Allendale student, stand by.

Allendale Breaks Ground For Gym

Allendale School for Boys held groundbreaking ceremonies for the expansion and remodeling of its gym last Thursday, May 28.

The project involves an expenditure of $100,000, and provides for spectator space, remodeling of shower room facilities, and a new floor. George Swops is chairman of the building and grounds committee at the school. Architects for the work are the firm of Hammond & Roesch, Chicago. Roy Nordstrom, Fox Lake, is general contractor.

The old gym, according to Thomas Sanberg, director of development at Allendale School, has served 3,000 boys since it was built in 1917.

Judge Minard Hulse was the principal speaker at the ground-breaking ceremonies. Clair Appleby, retiring after 14 years as director at the school, spoke to the audience also. Mr. Appleby plans to move to California.

Tyrone Walls, one of Allendale's outstanding boys and the first Negro student to enter Antioch Community High School, was on the speaker's platform and spoke a few words to the assemblage. Ty won the highest award that Allendale school gives—"Trusted Anywhere." Other honored guests were Richard A. Leavell, replacing Mr. Appleby as director of Allendale; Arthur Kruse, Executive director of the Community Fund of Chicago; Walter Schneider, Mayor of Lake Villa; Ernest Coe, president

Art Show On June 21

The First State Bank of Libertyville in cooperation with the Libertyville Arts Club is sponsoring an outdoor art festival in the parking area of the bank, 200 North Milwaukee Ave., Libertyville, on June 21, 11:30 a.m. to dusk. Admission is free to the public.

This is an opportunity for Libertyville and surrounding communities to view some of the really fine talent that exists in this area. On display will be paintings in all media, ceramics, sculpture, jewelry and other art wares. Besides local artists, some well known artists from other areas such as Walter Parke, Phil Austin,

Blind Plan Next Meet

Albert Bream, publicity director of the Lake County Association for the Blind, has announced that the organization will hold its monthly meeting at the Doll House in Winthrop Harbor on June 14 at 2 p.m. The Winthrop Harbor Lions Club will host the meeting and provide a smorgasbord.

Mr. Bream pointed out that Frank Kennedy is president of the association, and asked that members of the public not confuse this group with other associations of the blind.

The Lake County association has about 20 members at present and is aiming for full membership of all the blind persons in the county, at least 65 persons in all, according to Mr. Bream, and the members are working hard to realize those aims. They plan a bowling league for the blind this year, and are aiming for eventual construction of a Center for the Blind. Plans for the Center include a building for recreation and a meeting place, and eventually rooms for those who need them at a minimum rate. Members of the club hope to raise the money by their own efforts and are not asking for donations.

Big Celebration and Dance Will Be Held on June 13th

June 13th is the big day for the Antioch Rescue Squad—the celebration of their 25th anniversary. The squad will hold their annual dance at the Fire House in Antioch Saturday night, with King Jaros' orchestra furnishing the music.

Saturday's festivities will start at 8 p.m. with the Bicycle and Buggy Decorating Contest and Contest, sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce. The contest will be open to children up to 12 years of age. Rules and entry blank are in an ad elsewhere in this paper.

In keeping with the spirit of the Squad's birthday celebration, all those who participate in the Bike and Buggy Decorating contest will be treated to ice cream after the judging. So no one will be a loser.

Parade entries will gather at the village parking lot on Broadway at 10 a.m., and the parade will start at 10:30 a.m. It will leave the parking lot by the Orchard street entrance, go down Orchard to Main street, south on Main to Lake st., west on Lake to Broadway to the vicinity of the Rescue Squad building, where judging will be done.

There will be 18 prizes in the Decorating Contest in three categories—the prettiest, the funniest and the most patriotic. It is not required that bike and buggy owners wear costumes to match their vehicles, but Chamber members feel it will add color to the parade if they can.

If children find it difficult to get ideas for decorating their equipment, pictures of winning entries in like parades in other cities will be on display in the window of Art's Paint Store on Lake St. Viewing some of the elaborate and original concoctions dreamed up by others may stimulate young contestants with ideas of their own.

Judges of the Decorated bikes and buggies will be Mrs. James Kopriwa, William Brook and Les Sorenson.

Entries in the contest may be turned in either at the Antioch News office or at Art's Paint Store on Lake St.

Open House at the Rescue Squad Building will start at noon. The equipment will be on view for anyone interested, with squad members present to explain the use of the various pieces of equipment and answer any questions.

Open house will continue throughout the day, with a bar in operation outside the Rescue Squad building. Pop for the children will also be available at the bar.

The dance will start at 8 p.m. During the dancing, the north end of Broadway will be blocked off, and tables and chairs set up so that dancers' and audience may relax.

Carl Seemann is chairman of the Dance committee.

The Antioch News will publish a special supplement with its June 11th paper, devoted to the Rescue Squad. It will contain many pictures of the squad and its activities, past and present; the history of the squad, complete with names of past and present members; interviews with squad members and some of the wives, and numerous stories relating to the Rescue Squad.

Button, Button, Who's Got The Button?

You will note on another page of this newspaper an addition to the Village Treasurer's Report, published last week.

The addition to the Village Treasurer's Report covers the Sequoit Acres account, a separate bank account whose records are not kept by Village Treasurer Martha Hunter, but by Clerk Clarence Shultis.

The additional report was hastily ordered and brought for publication as the result of our questioning of an item in last week's financial report.

Our questions arose as a result of an item under "RECEIPTS"—Sale of Property—Sequoia Acres, $1,500.00.

We assumed, correctly, that the sale listed was the sale of property to George Kennedy.

At the time that Mr. Kennedy made an offer for the property (at a Village Board meeting) and later, when the Village Board approved the sale, the amount he paid for the land (7,500.00), was well publicized. One reason for this was that Walter Koziol of CharmingGlow had previously wanted to buy the property and had been refused. Village officials cited the large sale price as the reason they sold the property to Mr. Kennedy, rather than to CharmingGlow, who subsequently moved their factory to Bristol because they couldn't find a site in Antioch.

"What became of the other $6,000.00?" That's what we wanted to know. A week of asking questions has brought us several answers, and the additional treasurer's report.

Our questioning brought out the following facts: Village officials have established a Sequoit Acres account in the Antioch Savings & Loan which is not handled by Village Treasurer Martha Hunter, and the reports of which have not been published in the past.

David Nissen, the first village board member we talked

Murphy Loses Out In State Rep. Purge

State Rep. W. J. Murphy, Antioch, was one of those "purged" by Percy forces in the nominating convention at Springfield last Monday.

Nominated as candidates in the fall election-at-large for state representatives were John Connolly, Nick Keller and Marshall Schroeder, publisher of the Grayslake Times.

Murphy was elected a delegate to the state nominating convention in the primary. However, Percy had enough votes lined up against him and the other purged representatives to succeed in his maneuver.

Murphy appeared on TV Saturday night on the At Random show, along with William Rentschler, a Percy cohort who was working on the slate of chosen representatives to be nominated. Murphy made several bitter comments on Percy's "dictatorial actions" and his disregard of the wishes of Lake County voters in purging Murphy from the slate.

Numerous Antioch residents expressed their anger at Murphy's removal.

Lake County Plumbers Out On Strike

The Plumbing & Heating Contractors Association of Lake and McHenry counties and Journeyman Plumbers local union No. 93 have been unable to negotiate an acceptable work and wage agreement.

The existing contract between the said parties expired at 12:00 a.m. on May 31, 1964.

It had been the desire of the contractors that the union members would continue to work and serve the public while negotiations continued, however, plumbers local 93 has elected by means of a strike vote of their membership to cease work effective 12:01 a.m. June 1, 1964.

The Plumbing & Heating Contractors Association of Lake and McHenry Counties have been greatly concerned with productivity and rising costs of labor. The contractors wish to assure their customers that every continuing effort will be made to obtain an agreement between the contractors and local 93 that will insure productivity and a fair rate to all. Until such time as agreements are reached emergency service will be carried on by the contractors.

Jaycees Announce Beauty Pageant

The Lake Region Jaycees have announced that they will run their Beauty Pageant again this year. A tentative date of July 4 has been set as the date of announcement of the Jaycees Queen.

Rules and further details of the beauty contest will appear in next week's Antioch News.

EDITORIAL

Oh, What A Tangled Web—

The elusive $6,000.00, conspicuous by its absence from the Village Treasurer's annual report, gives rise to many questions.

Did George Kennedy pay $7,500.00 for the property in Sequoit Acres?

Why wasn't the total amount included in the published Treasurer's report?

Why isn't the Sequoit Acres account and records kept by the Village Treasurer (who is bonded to handle village money)?

Why is the Sequoit Acres Land Trust, which seems to have outlived its usefulness, perpetuated?

Omission of any sizeable amount from the published financial report of any governing body immediately casts a cloud on the authenticity of the entire report. The question immediately rises, are there other omissions, unnoticed by the general public? Omission of an entire bank account, the knowledge that this account was not handled through regular channels, seems at best an amazingly careless way of handling public funds.

The publishing of annual financial reports was established, and continues, for good reason. The citizen assumes, with good reason, that any published financial report will be complete and accurate. It is a prime basis of public faith in its governing bodies.

Carelessness, inaccuracy, omissions, in such reports destroys public faith in the sound, impartial execution of its public business. That is unfortunate for everyone.

As a newspaper, we would be remiss if we did not call the omission to your attention. We hope the village board will take steps to place all accounts of public money in the hands of the village treasurer, and conduct all public business through regular, official channels.

Your Congressman Reports...

By Cong. Robert McClory

Recently, Illinois Governor Otto Kerner and I took part in a television program in which a part of the discussion centered around the climate for business and economic growth in Illinois. While the Governor and all other public and private citizens of Illinois are interested in promoting our state's economic growth, some very sobering facts should be considered. Certain information furnished to me by the United States Department of Commerce bears interestingly upon this subject.

Illinois, one of the rich industrial states of the Nation, has sustained a fairly steady decline in its rate of economic growth since 1929. Of the "Great Lakes States" of Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Wisconsin and Illinois, our State is at the bottom in the "rate" of per capita income growth. During this time, Indiana boasted a 304 per cent increase while Illinois lagged far behind with only 208 per cent.

This ration is even more pronounced in respect to "total" personal income growth in which Illinois' increase amounted to 312 per cent in contrast to Michigan's 449 per cent and Indiana's 480 per cent. Per capita income and total personal income for the period 1962-63 reflected some improvement in Illinois' relative position, but showed our State increasing in per capita income only at the rate of 3 per cent in contrast to Michigan's 5 per cent increase and Indiana's 4 per cent improvement. According to the U. S. Department of Commerce, Illinois is one of 14 states in the Nation showing the lowest rate of economic growth in the period of 1948 to 1963.

Considerable prodding from the business community, as well as a political campaign in which attention is focused on this subject, should develop greater citizen awareness of the need for a healthy economic climate in Illinois.

A most significant comment appears in the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce's recent publication, Meeting the Challenge of Economic Growth in Illinois. The authors of this work point out that: "Illinois has grown less in the nation's growth industries and declined more in the nation's declining industries." This salient statement should give cause for careful thought by all who are seeking to lead Illinois in a path of improved industrial and economic growth.

The grossly unfavorable position of Illinois, with respect to defense contract awards, is certainly one factor accounting for our State's poor showing. In the fiscal year ending in July 1963, California received more than 23 per cent of the defense contract awards, whereas Illinois received only 1.8 per cent of such important business. The States of Missouri, New York, Pennsylvania and Texas are also far ahead of our State's position. The Governor and all of the Illinois Members of Congress, representing both political parties, have been endeavoring to do something about this—and there are signs of improvement on the horizon.

Local initiative and a receptive local climate for business appear to be the principal inducements for new and expanded business growth. Our 12th Congressional District can take justifiable pride in such industrial developments as the recent expansion of the Frank G. Hough Company in Libertyville and the projected new plants of Abbott Laboratories and G. D. Searle Laboratories in Lake County. We are proud of the recent decisions to establish a huge Chrysler Corporation plant near Belvidere in Boone County and a new plant of the Borden Company at Woodstock, in McHenry County.

The physical attributes of Illinois, particularly that section comprising our 12th

New dignity bestowed on the Illinois judiciary by the judicial reform bills took a rough beating at the hands of the Lake County Bar Association when the barristers presented their every now and then Gildiron Dinner last week.

Scenarists for the skits and the attorney-actors turned to their tasks with relish and some occasional acid, but the spoofing stayed on the humorous side of malice.

Appellate Judge Thomas Moran was the special target of the writers drawing barbs for his meteoric rise despite his comparative youth and for his availability whenever a new job opening developed.

Federal Judge Bernard M. Decker was depicted as a somewhat eager bride waiting in the wings of the church for his appointment to the federal bench and Circuit Judge Philip W. Yager was unabashedly eager to take the bench in place of Judge Decker.

Most hopeful sign of the enjoyable evening was the fact that the judges themselves seemed to enjoy the program more than anyone else even when the barbs bit deepest.

The legislative nominating convention has come and gone, but the memories and scars will linger on for some time. Meanwhile, however, politics must go on and already attention is turning to the Appellate Court convention in Elgin on July 20.

Judge Moran, who was appointed to the Appellate bench in January, is one of the candidates for the three posts for the 13 county district and Judge William M. Carroll, of Woodstock, would like to keep the post he also holds by appointment.

Politics and county population being what they are, however, it appears likely that Judge Moran, Appellate Judge Mel Abramson, of DuPage County and one from the western part of the district which stretches from the Mississippi River to Lake Michigan, will be the convention picks.

Delegates to the convention from Lake County will be furnished with bus transportation and while the apparent reason may be delegation convenience there is a bare chance that Judge Moran wants to make sure that none of his dedicated delegates wanders down the political primrose path and into another camp.

If Judge Moran is successful in his bid for the nomination he will withdraw his name as a candidate for reelection as Circuit Judge and open the way for a new Circuit Judge in the 19th District.

Since Lake County is already one over the limit in Associate Judges there is strong likelihood that Judge LaVerne A. Dixon, who was elected Probate Judge originally, will aspire to the higher post.

Judge Dixon would be a strong contender for the post, but he can expect opposition from Atty. Mortimer Singer, of Highland Park, among others.

Judge Yager, the only Democrat on the Circuit bench in the district, must run for election and consequently must try to get the nominations of both the Democratic and Republican judicial conventions.

If the nomination was left strictly to the attorneys, Judge Yager would probably win easily, since he has earned the respect and personal regard of an overwhelming majority of the barristers, but there are other commitments to be considered in both parties and he could encounter some state.

Chief Judge Glenn K. Seldensfeld was nominated by both parties, but this was largely to forestall a special election, a situation that does not prevail today.

With the strained relations in the Republican party because of the legislative convention and the probability of an extremely close race state-wide, some GOP leaders may regard it as unwise to give Judge Yager a free ride at the polls.

A few days ago I received a letter from a former student of mine, an Annapolis graduate, and a career navy man for a quarter of a century. His duties have required that he live abroad at considerable intervals, and I was most interested when he wrote:

"If I ever had any doubts about the American way, they quickly disappeared when confronted with alternatives. I will even defend our school system, with all its faults, and often do. Of course it can be improved as you full well know."

There was a time when I felt defensive about the American educational system when compared to the best schools on the continent. I have had in my classes students from half a dozen foreign nations and I was impressed by their superior cultural background. Our very best students did not quite measure up.

In the last few years I have changed my mind and on broader grounds than the cultural background. Perhaps the difference was best put in perspective by an NBC full hour report last winter on the change now taking place in Britain. Most of the program was devoted to the British educational system.

Even after two Labor governments in Britain, even after a reform movement that has changed the face of that tight little island, the British class system still looms high as a strong influence on society. . . . The British educational system was devised to foster and encourage the perpetuation of that system.

The man from the right prep school, the man with the right school tie, the man with the proper accent was guaranteed a proper place in society. Regardless how brilliant the son of a worker, or farmer, or small tradesman, he was virtually cut off from competing successfully in the British class system.

In England there has been nothing comparable to the state university, and the scores of small denominational liberal arts colleges. The red brick English school was always regarded as an unprincipled upstart, and in any case there were too few of them. Only a handful of English school boys had hopes of a college education. The result was a class system reinforced by the barrier of inferiority.

Whatever the sins of the American system, it has attempted to produce a classless society. There is a conscious effort to see that everyone has an equal chance regardless of wealth or position. The boy with the special aptitude, the girl with extraordinary talent is encouraged; the best of American universities are within their grasp.

I can give example after example of our graduates with great talent and small finances who have gone to Harvard or to Princeton, to M.I.T., or to a dozen other top universities on scholarships. It is difficult to mold a society with hard class lines when all kinds of people meet on an even footing in the classroom.

Britain has suffered a terrific loss from the bright young men who never majored in science, who never studied higher mathematics, who never had a chance at med school. The British system produced leaders for an empire, but the days of empire have vanished.

An Egg Isn't Always An Egg

A New York advertising agency ran a trade journal advertisement a little while ago in which they made the point that the difference between one agency and another was really just people. They did it by showing a picture of what looked like an ordinary run-of-the-mill chicken egg. To a lot of people, an egg is an egg and they're all alike as peas in a pod (which, come to think of it, are actually all different, too).

Well, they pointed out that one egg could look like any other but inside it could be a prairie owl or a Plymouth Rock or a Rhode Island Red or it could be sterile or ticking with life. Their egg turned out to contain a potential lady alligator!

Car buyers are making a mistake if they think that car dealerships are all alike except for what appears to be slight differences in price.

Car dealerships are very different. Some stress high volume sales and play down service. Some advertise heavily with price ads, train salesmen to be aggressive and believe that the long term repeat customer is usually not worth the trouble.

Well, we DO stress service, we don't normally advertise heavily and we try to stress quality when we do. We train our salesmen to be aggressive, but in seeking out the best solution to the customer's needs in order to make a sale. Most of all we think that a repeat customer is worth all the trouble you can possibly go to to keep him.

Along The Way

with ANNIE MAE

As most of you know by now, the Soo Line R. R. plans to abandon the only passenger service to our community as soon as possible. We are sure that figures will prove beyond a doubt as to the losses incurred on this run. However, this writer is just as sure that with a little joint cooperation between the prominent organizations in this community, it might be possible to come to an agreement whereby week-end service could be available. If you feel this to be important to you, take pen in hand and help us to be heard before the Illinois Commerce Commission.

THE LATEST REPORT: Scuttlebutt running around about the possibility of a shopper's bus service to the surrounding Lakes and return, has some merits, why not let the C. of C. know if you would use a service like this . . . 'tis boy number three at the Dr. Alan Thain's . . . have you noticed the remarkable transformation on our golf Poll? . . . the participants in the $6,000 question have reached another plateau, and who knows, they may go for broke! . . . Virginia Zeien is our idea of a genuine "cockeyed optimist", she's the only one we know who keeps right on laughing when hit in the rear end (her car of course) by a very large truck. . . .

NOTES TO YOU: May we say a fond farewell to Sid and Edna Gover who paid us some nice compliments Along The Way . . . we never did get to know the Optometrist who moved out of the Main St. Bldg. the other day, just as silently as he crept in. . . . the State Bank deserves a little publicity for supplying the ammunition to all the Lions Club golfers last Wednesday. . . .

THE LAST DROP: 23 Skidoo, the wheels are back! First it was Bill Brook trying something called an exercise, then we caught a glimpse of Jim Quendenfeld pedaling home from work the other day, and the latest is that indomitable, spirited, Emma Roblin who intends to cycle her way to and from wherever she goes! . . . speaking of cycles, the Antioch C. of C. is sponsoring a bicycle and buggy decorating contest, to help the Rescue Squad celebrate its 25th birthday June 13. Get your entry blank early kiddos and let's make this a parade the town won't soon forget!

DID YOU HEAR? The definition of an optimist? One who thinks there will be bigger strawberries in the bottom of the box.

Berry truly yours,

to, told us that the $1,500.00 in the treasurer's report represented the price for the portion of the land in Industrial Acres owned by the village. The balance, he said, was not actually village property but was in the keeping of a land trust of which the village board members were trustees. Ergo, money from the sale of the property was not actually paid to the village but to the trust.

Questioning at the bank handling the land trust elicited the information that Industrial Acres property was, indeed, handled by a land trust, of which village board members were trustees; that the trust was established at the time that George Bartlett was Village President, to facilitate the sale of the property. Without the land trust, a public referendum would have to be held in order to sell any of the property.

The land trust, however, does not include a bank account, and does not handle the money. Such monies, in the bank official's opinion, would be village money and would go into village records. Mayor Cunningham agreed that the money was indeed village money, and should have been included in the treasurer's report. He said he believed Clarence Shultis handled the account, and he would instruct him to make out a financial report for publication.

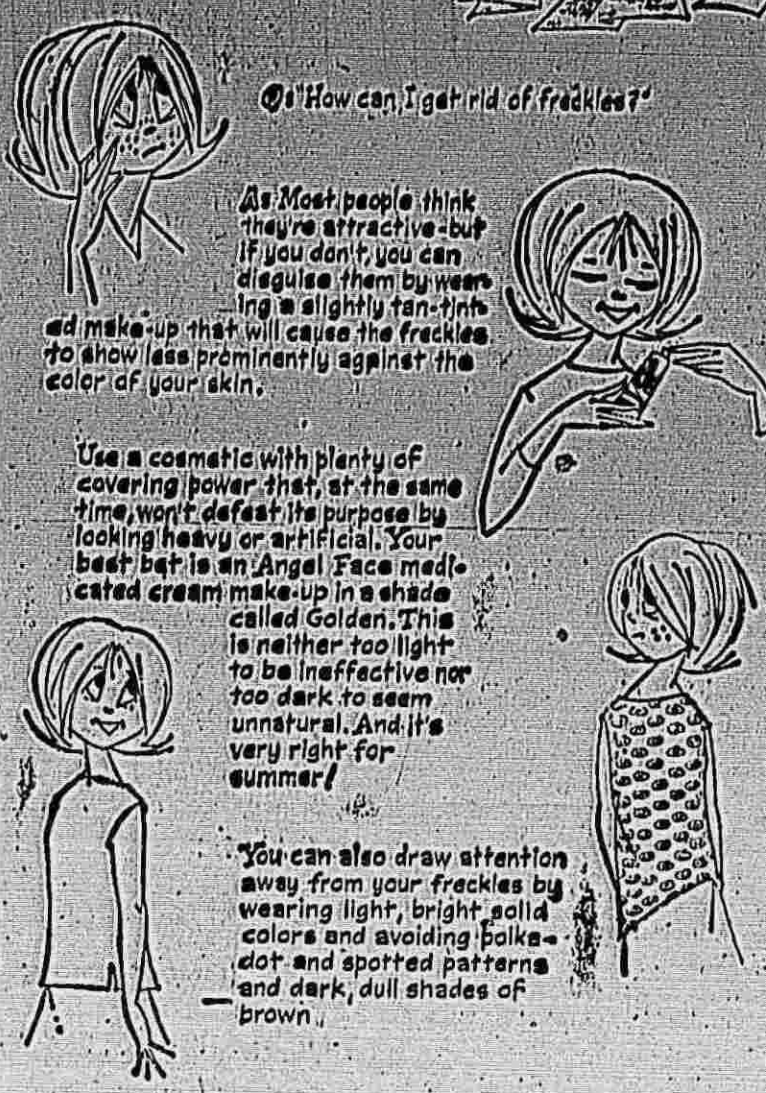

Treasurer Martha Hunter, the first one we questioned for an explanation of the $1,500.00 item, said she received a check for $1,500.00, and that's all she ever received. Questioned yesterday as to her signature on the additional report published this week, she said she made out this report from Mr. Shultis' records.

Charmglow, now established in Bristol, has 70 workers now in its labor force. Mr. Kozol says he expects to bring the number of employees up to 200 within the next year.

YOUNG IDEAS

and Polly Ponds

Q: How can I get rid of freckles?

A: Most people think they're attractive—but if you don't, you can disguise them by wearing a slightly tan-tinted make-up that will cause the freckles to show less prominently against the color of your skin.

Use a cosmetic with plenty of covering power, that, at the same time, won't defeat the purpose by looking heavy or artificial. Your best bet is an Angel Face medicated cream make-up in a shade called Golden. This is neither too light to be ineffective nor too dark to seem unnatural. And it's very right for summer!

You can also draw attention away from your freckles by wearing light, bright solid colors and avoiding polka-dot and spotted patterns and dark, dull shades of brown.

Poison Is In Your House

Household poisons — plus your child's natural curiosity — can spell DEATH when taken for granted.

To avoid this tragedy, a number of commonly used products should become familiar to you as poisons. They include: disinfectants, insecticides, cleaning agents, furniture polish, turpentine, kerosene, and cosmetics such as nail polish remover and hair lotions.

You should also realize that drugs used to benefit health can be lethal when taken improperly. Even aspirin, a common remedy for pain, can be dangerous in excess dosage. One-third of the 12,000 cases of poisoning in children reported last year in Illinois were caused by aspirin.

Here's how you can keep your child from becoming part of this statistic in 1964:

1. Check your kitchen, bathroom, bedrooms, garage, attic, yard, basement and closets for everything and anything harmful — not just articles labeled poison — and place them out of reach of your youngsters.
2. Never put household products or drugs in containers which were meant to hold food or beverages.
3. Always cover containers tightly.
4. Don't store non-edible products on shelves used for storing food.
5. Read drug labels carefully — including the fine print.
6. Never give or take anything from an unlabeled bottle.
7. Never give or take medicines in the dark.
8. Never tell your child you are giving him candy when you are giving him medicine.
9. Discard all prescriptions not being used.
10. Remember: Your child uses his mouth to learn. Remove harmful products from his sight and reach.

of the Lake Villa Trust & Savings Bank, and other prominent trustees and board members.

Mr. Leavell will take over at Allendale on July 1, 1964. He is the former principal of a large grade school in Warren, Michigan; a graduate of John Hopkins University; has a Master's degree in Educational Psychology and Administration from the University of Michigan. He has four children, is 43 years old, and has a good background in working with dependent boys as a teacher and guidance man.

Allendale is a home for dependent boys. Fifty per cent of the boys are placed by their parents in the school, 50% are placed by Lake and Cook County courts. The school has a capacity of 82 boys. Annual applications for admission total 400. Allendale has no restrictions as to race, color or creed, and is non-denominational. Boys 6 to 18 years old reside at the school.

There is an ungraded remedial school on the grounds, where the boys are taught until their schooling is on a level with their age group, and their social behavior is acceptable. The school now has 12 boys in Antioch High School and 3 in Lake Villa Grade School. The school has a rehabilitation program headed by case workers and consultants in psychiatry and psychology.

The school is supported by private donations, help from the Chicago Community Fund, parents and agencies who place children and are able to pay toward their support, and by income from an endowment fund. The Grade School on the grounds is accredited and receives some State Aid.

Funds needed for the coming year are $115,000 for operating expenses, according to Mr. Sanberg, and the money for the building fund.

Drivers should enter expressways at the speed of traffic, says the Chicago Motor Club. Motorists also should keep pace with expressway traffic; change lanes only when necessary, taking care to check traffic in front and behind; and look carefully to the rear before slowing down to leave.

But he doesn't know—and nobody in his area knows—how to get enough food out of the good ground.

How to plow and plant and rotate. How to fertilize and cross-fertilize and harvest. How to can preserves or balance a diet or smoke a ham. How to get more milk from a cow, more eggs from a chicken, more bushels from an acre. How to drive a tractor, or fix it when it breaks down.

You know these things. You could teach those villagers what you know. As other men and women who know something about farming are doing now all over the world.

Honored At 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Peter (Anna) Zalatoris of Shady Nook, Lake Marie, Antioch, were guests of honor last Sunday (May 31) at a celebration of their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

About eighty guests attended a dinner and evening of dancing in the banquet room at Lorenz's Smart Country House. The affair was arranged by the sons and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Zalatoris.

Mr. and Mrs. Zalatoris have had a summer home at Lake Marie about 27 years, and moved here permanently seven years ago, on Mr. Zalatoris' retirement.

Mr. and Mrs. Zalatoris have two sons, and one daughter: Edward, of Antioch, who has two sons, Jeffrey and Peter; William, of La Grange Park, has been a pilot for American Airlines for twelve years. He has three sons, Ricky, 10, Mark, 7, and Paul, 3. Mrs. George (Genevieve) Cernak, Brookfield, has two children, Randy and Suzanne.

The fiftieth wedding anniversary started off a busy month for the Zalatoris family. June 1 was Mr. Zalatoris' birthday; June 2, young Ricky's birthday; June 8, William's, and June 12, Mark's.

Polley Takes Leave From ACHS Post

Warren Polley, assistant superintendent, has been granted a sabbatical leave by the Antioch Community High School Board of Education from September 15, 1964 to June 9, 1965.

Mr. Polley has been accepted into the Post-Master degree program at Illinois State University located at Normal, Illinois.

Part of the requirement for the Post-Master degree is residency on the campus during the school year.

Mr. Polley has served the district for the past 16 years. In 1957 he was appointed, by the Board of Education, to the assistant superintendent.

Lawrence Eggleston, staff member, has been appointed by the board to assume the responsibilities of the assistant superintendent during Mr. Polley's absence. He will continue as Dean of Boys. Mr. Eggleston has been part time English instructor and Dean of Boys and also served as the Yearbook sponsor.

Each year fireworks maim or blind children, yet people still buy fireworks illegally "bootlegged" into Illinois, according to the Illinois Society for the prevention of Blindness.

WE OFFER PROFESSIONAL GUIDANCE

Most people purchase a cemetery memorial once, or perhaps twice, in a lifetime, making the need for professional counsel most important. DEATH NOTICES

JOHN H. MESSAGE

Mr. John H. Message, 69 years old of 1008 Victoria St., Antioch, passed away Tuesday, June 2, at 2:30 p.m. in Victory Memorial Hospital after a year illness. He was born October 14, 1894 in Chicago and resided there until moving to Antioch in 1901. He married Mrs. Lena Bemis on October 16, 1925 at Antioch. He served in the U. S. Army during World War I. Mr. Message worked for 15 years at Abbott Laboratories in North Chicago and retired in October, 1959.

He is survived by his wife Lena, three sons, John H. Message, Lake Zurich, Ill.; William J. Message and Walter V. Message, both of Grunee; one step-son, Robert H. Bemis, Antioch; one daughter, Mrs. William (Betsey) Young, Antioch; three sisters, Mrs. Joseph (Fannie) Paulsen, Chicago; Mrs. Ernest (Agnes) Glenn, Antioch, and Mrs. Olive Hallwas, Antioch, and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 p.m. on Friday at the Strang Funeral Home in Antioch. Rev. Donald Cobb of the Antioch Methodist Church will officiate at the services. Interment will be in Hickory Union Cemetery near Antioch. Friends may call at the funeral home after 1:30 p.m. on Thursday.

MRS. ETTA MOYSE DIES IN FLORIDA

Mrs. Etta Moyses, 79, of St. Petersburg, Florida, died Friday morning, May 22, in the Masonic Home there.

Born Etta Boulden, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Boulden, September 29, 1884, in Wilmet, she attended Wilmet schools and Whitewater State College. She taught grade school at Wilmet, Union Grove and in Illinois.

In 1911 she married John Beath, who died in 1941.

She married Ernest Moyses in 1947, and he preceded her in death in 1960.

Mrs. Moyses moved to Tampa, Fla., in 1946, and has since made her home there and in St. Petersburg.

Surviving are one son, Andrew Beath, Vienna, Virginia, one grandson, and two sisters, Mrs. Paul (Mary) Ganzlin, Wilmet, and Mrs. Madison (Sarah) Ballantyne, Holdrege, Neb.

She was preceded in death by her parents, a sister and four brothers.

Interment was in Evansville, Wis.

LOUIS BEHRENDT

Mr. Louis "Red" Behrendt, 67 years old of 216 7th Avenue in California Ice Co. Subdivision near Antioch, Ill., passed away at 2:45 p.m. on Sunday, May 31, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Betty Meierdick. He had been ill since October 1963.

Mr. Behrendt was born October 8, 1896, at Evanston, Ill. He had resided in Chicago, then moved to Cicero, Ill., in 1947 and moved to Antioch 6 years ago. He had been spending as much time in this area as his work would allow for the past 60 years.

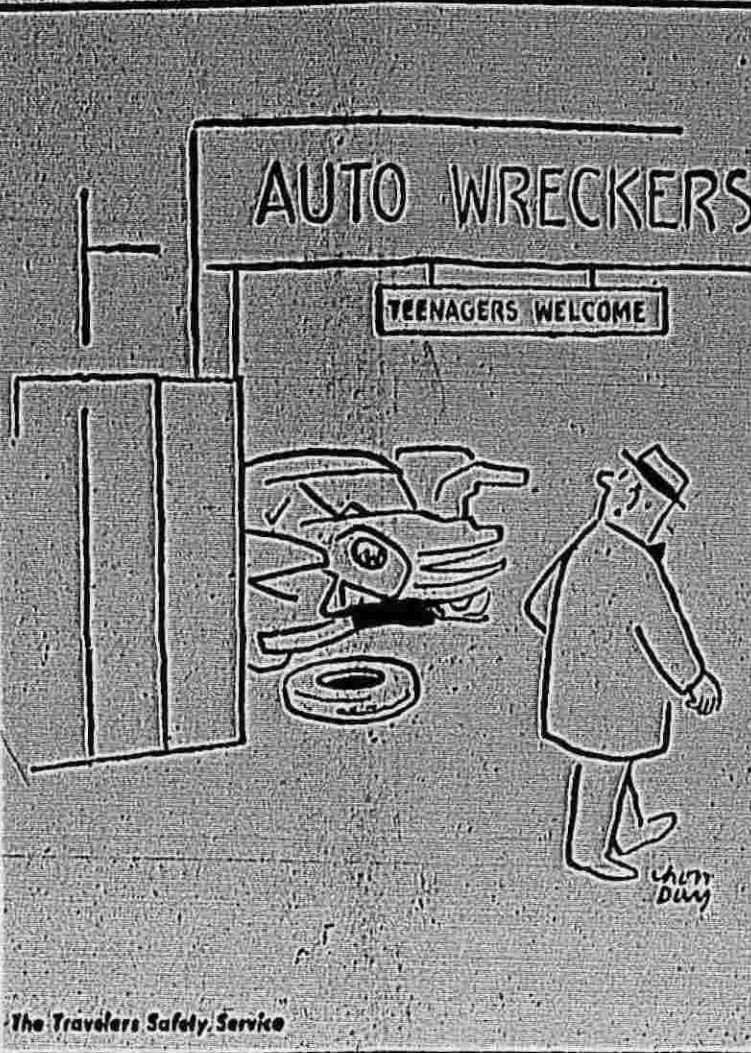

When Highway No. 173 was built he had worked as a heavy machine operator on this highway. He had served in the U. S. Coast Guard from June 4, 1918 to May 22, 1919. Mr. Behrendt had retired 6 years ago as a truck driver for the Edmier Inc. in Cicero where he had worked for 30 years.

Survivors are two sons, Charles L. Behrendt, of Antioch, and Thomas W. Behrendt of Lake Villa; one daughter, Mrs. Charles (Betty) Meierdick, of Antioch; three sisters, Mrs. Annie Norman, Northfield, Ill.; Mrs. Carrie Lebbin, Chicago; Mrs. Bertha Neuhaus, Northbrook, Ill.; two brothers, Henry Behrendt, Rogers Park, Ill.; Albert Behrendt, Wyandotte, Mich., and 7 grandchildren.

Funeral services were held at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 2, 1964, at the Strang Funeral Home in Antioch. Rev. Donald Cobb of the Antioch Methodist Church officiated at the services. Interment was in Home Oak Cemetery near Antioch.

Keep your 4th of July free of crippling or blinding accidents by keeping fireworks away from your children, urges the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Rushin' Roulette by Chon Day

Drivers under 25 were involved in more than 25% of the personal injury accidents in 1962.

DO YOU HAVE A BABY SITTER?

Here are some important suggestions to parents who employ a baby sitter:

1. Know the sitter. Be sure she is reliable, has a sense of responsibility, likes children. Try to have the same sitter regularly if possible, once you feel sure she is a good one.
2. Before you leave her alone with the children, give her specific instructions about the children and the house and what you want done. Write down the telephone number where you can be reached, in case of emergency. If she cannot reach you let her know someone close by she can phone, if necessary. Give her the phone numbers of your doctor, the police and fire departments. Tell her the time you expect to be home. If delayed you will phone.
3. When you go out have her put the latch on the doors and instruct her not to open the door for any person unknown to her.
4. Always make suitable and safe arrangements for accompanying the sitter home.

New Rule At Antioch Pool

Dr. George Jensen, one of the charter members of the Lions Club Pool Board, announced Wednesday that a new rule has been instituted at the Antioch Aqua Center, commonly known as the pool.

"No more elephants in the pool," says Dr. Jensen—and he looked as though he meant it.

We naturally inquired as to the reason for this revolutionary rule. After all, this is a free country, and we have our constitutional rights, and the newspapers are the jealous guardians of the freedom of individual citizens.

Why? "Because they go around with their trunks down," Dr. Jensen declared sternly.

Well! No wonder they're making a rule. We wholeheartedly agree.

Sales Tax For December Reported

County sales taxes covering the month of December, 1963, in Lake County totaled $17,845.92.

City sales taxes for the same period in Antioch totaled $7,529.85. Sales taxes collected in the village of Fox Lake for the same period were $8,923.91; in Lake Villa, $1,370.50; in Grayslake, $3,873.27.

County sales taxes covering January, 1964, for the county of Lake amounted to $11,575.71.

City sales taxes covering January, 1964, collected in Antioch totaled $4,204.77; in Fox Lake, $5,041.27; in Lake Villa, $905.48; in Grayslake, $2,903.13.

NI-GAS EARNS MORE IN 1964

Consolidated earnings applicable to common stock for Northern Illinois Gas Company and Allied Gas Company, its utility subsidiary, were $23,605,716, or $3.07 a share, for the 12 months ended April 30, 1964. This compares with earnings of $22,960,823, or $2.99 a share, for the corresponding period last year.

The weather during the latest 12-month period was 4.5 percent warmer than normal, compared with 8.5 percent colder than normal in the prior period.

47% Of Grade To Continue Study

Of the Class of '64 which graduated from Antioch Community High School last Tuesday, 47% plan to go on to school.

Of these, 63 students, or 38% plan to attend college or university; and 20, or 11% will go to trade schools.

Thirty-seven of the students, or 22%, are going into the labor market; 32, or 10%, intend to enter secretarial work, and 18, or 10% intend to enter the Armed Forces.

Forty-seven colleges are represented in the list of schools the students plan to attend. The greatest single number, 16, will attend the University of Illinois.

Will Work With Safety Commission

Harry H. Stern, Indian Point and Elmer Eberman, Channel Lake, were appointed to the advisory committee of the Lake County Safety Commission at the May 13 meeting.

Harvey Stern is also a director of the Lake County Red Cross, a board member of the Lake County Health Improvement Association, and publicity director for the Northern Illinois Conservation Club and the Antioch Township Republican Club.

Elmer Eberman is president of the Channel Lake School Board, chairman of the board of trustees of the Antioch Methodist Church, treasurer of the Antioch Township Republican Club and Republican precinct committeeman of the 5th Antioch precinct.

Herbert Horton sponsored both men, along with Sheriff Charles E. Larson.

Parking at the side of the road at night, says the Chicago Motor Club, always is a dangerous practice. If you must pull off the road in an emergency, make certain you are completely off the highway. Leave your car lights on and use flares to warn oncoming traffic of your presence.

Salem FHA Sends Girls to Green Lake

Sequoit Track Outlook Good, Says Andrews

Coach Roger Andrews completed the final statistics on the past season's track efforts this week. The results showed 14 boys who earned the varsity letter.

Requirements for a varsity track letter are: score 20 or more points, place as an individual in a large meet (6 or more schools), be on a conference championship relay team or complete 4 years on the track team. Any one of the above requirements will earn a letter.

Tom Morgan, ace sprinter for the Sequoits this past season, was voted by his teammates as the "Most Valuable Track Man." Tom Tantlinger was voted the honor of "Team Captain."

In a wrap up of the squad competition this year the Sequoits had a very successful season. The team finished fourth in the Palatine Relays out of 24 schools, won first at the Salem Invitational out of 12 schools and placed second in the conference meet. The Sequoits also took 6 wins versus 3 losses in their dual and triangular schedule.

Tom Morgan was the only Sequoit to qualify for the State meet. Tom competed in the hundred yard dash of the State meet but failed to place.

Varsity letter winners were Tom Morgan, Bruce Dalgard, Jim Edwards, Jim Eflinger, Bob Schenk, Tom Tantlinger, Lon Ipsen, Vince Cassela, John Brady, John Sheppard, Tom Wojnowiak, Martin Swede, Brad Dubas, and Bob Flood.

"Prospects for next year look very good," Coach Andrews indicated. "We have a solid nucleus of juniors returning and some very promising sophomores coming up."

Junior & Prep Bowling Ends

The bowling season has ended for the Junior and Prep Leagues at the Antioch Bowl. In the Junior League, first place was taken by Antioch Answering Service, second went to Fargo Ice and third to The Advertiser.

Individual trophies were awarded: Most improved went to George Stahl and Linda Schultz; high series to Ray Nosko and Jo Ann Bolton.

The season closed with a doubles house tournament held on May 2. First place to Tom Jermakowicz and George Stahl, second place to Dolores Anderson and Carol Sillanoff, third to Les Miller and Richard Ripley. High individual scratch game was won by Les Miller and Jo Ann Bolton.

The banquet was held at Paty's Lounge on May 9.

In the Prep League, high game went to David Longly and Wendy Jensen. High series to David Longly and Cheryl Pincombe. Most improved bowlers: Gail Flint and Jimmy Avery.

The Preps ended the season with an individual house tournament. First place trophies were awarded to all

Sequoit Nine End Season

The Antioch baseball squad completed a rather disappointing season last week with 3 wins and 12 losses. They were nosed out of seventh place by Wauconda on the virtue of Wauconda's one less game. The Bulldogs also registered only 3 wins for the season, but had only 11 losses.

Errors caused most of the problems for the Sequoits all season. Antioch accumulated 86 bobbles in 15 games for a 5.73 average per game.

Team batting was at a respectable figure of .249 with three of the Sequoits hitting over .300. Dick Davis was high with a .355 clip followed by Bob Lenczewski at .315 and Jeff Gates at .300.

Dean Denman was voted the team's most valuable player for the season. Norb Wolter was made the squad honorary captain.

boys and girls in their own average group.

First place trophies were given to Jeff Wagner, Ken Liesegang, Mike Ozga, Julie Pedersen, Ken Kish, Mike Sankovich and Kathy Walpole. The banquet was held at Bud & Anne's on May 24.

Harris Grabs Victory At Speedway

A post Memorial Day crowd saw Duane Harris of McHenry grab a thrilling victory at Waukegan Speedway Sunday night amid a wild, charging field of Modified stock racers. He took the checkered flag just a few fractions of a second ahead of Roger Otto from Milwaukee who fought his way up through the pack.

In the Sportsman division, the eventual winner was Jim Cossman of Waukegan. This race was marked with spills and close, fender-bending competition all the way.

Heat winners were:

- 1st Modified heat: George Uttech, Kenosha.
- 2nd Modified heat: Gino Wagner, Cudahay.
- 3rd Modified heat: Johnny Reimer, Caledonia.
- 4th Modified heat: Terry Vaughn, Antioch.

Sportsman heat, No. 1: O'Dell Jones, Waukegan.

Sportsman No. 2: Bill Robis, Antioch.

Fastest time trial turned in Sunday night was 20.03 by Bill Bohn in his red hot Modified. The crowd came to their feet to watch him slam across the start-finish line on this very fast quarter-mile lap.

Next Wednesday, the card will again feature the best in Modified drivers from Illinois and Wisconsin, according to Gordon Silt, Waukegan Speedway promoter. The track is located on Washington street, just one-half mile west of Green Bay Road, Waukegan.

Trials start at 7 p.m. This will be the first Wednesday of racing this season and will continue every Wednesday throughout the summer.

Promise Of Wild Wrestling Show At McHenry, Illinois

It may not be the Fourth of July, but fireworks will be the order of the day on Saturday, June 13, when big time all-star professional wrestling will be brought to McHenry at McCracken Field by the American Legion Post 401.

Negotiations have been completed for the finest of TV talent, the show committee announces that they have exceeded their expectations by signing one of the most outstanding cards presented in any arena. As Ed Reed, chairman, said, "It wasn't easy, but as long as we're going to be first with this type of show, we'd also like to bring in the best."

All of the talent on the card has been seen on regular TV channels in the past and are currently being seen on UHF Channel 26 out of Chicago three nights a week.

The top bout will pit Angelo Poffo, current Midwest heavyweight champion, against The Mongol, half-human looking behemoth from Mongolia. Poffo first gained recognition as an outstanding athlete when he was written up in Robert Ripley's column for having done 6000 consecutive situps, still a record. The Mongol's outstanding feature is his tremendous strength. On TV recently he was asked if he could break a basketball. He squeezed it between his chest and arms and split it from end to end. His manager says that he has never utilized all the strength he possesses.

In another headliner, Billy

Goetz and Johnny Gilbert, Midwest Tag Team champions, will meet Nicelli Volkoff and Johnny Kace, outstanding challengers for the title. Goetz and Gilbert have been together since 1957, when they captured the championship, longer than any other team has held the title.

This will not be the first meeting of these four. In a recent TV match from Marigold Gardens in Chicago, Gilbert and Goetz were taking turns body-slammings Kace when the ring caved in. The supports under it collapsed, sending Kace through until he was out of sight. Volkoff ran to his aid and was promptly put into the home on top of Kace. The referee stopped the bout and declared "no contest." This will be the return match and the title might change hands.

In a special bout, Bob Longo of the Huntley Police Dept. will face Farmer Jones, Texas Pig Farmer. Bob was trained under Lou Talaber, and is said to be the outstanding pupil to come out of Talaber's wrestling school in Chicago. The Farmer is classed as a Spoiler, due to his record of ruining the ambitions of young and eager wrestlers on their way up.

The date of this outstanding card is June 13, Saturday, starting at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are available at the Post Home, but the committee says, "Better get them early. It looks like we could have a sellout show."

Darnell Point Leader At Wilmot Track

Like Saturday's Indianapolis winner, who won his second 500 mile race, Bay Darnell of Deerfield, Ill., won his second race in a row as he took a wire to wire win at Wilmot in the modified stock car races.

Dick Bentley of Twin Lakes Wis., took over second spot for several laps but Jack Radtke of Salem took it away. Radtke in turn lost that position to Bill Shoulders who later gave way to Bill Strom of Milwaukee. Rodger Otto of Burlington worked his way up from the back to fourth spot before his Pontiac engine gave out.

Jim Sullivan of Antioch, who qualified fastest at an average of 52.91 mph, then took over fourth and was followed across the finish line by Jr. Dodd of Waukegan. Darnell averaged 51.76 mph for the 20 laps. His car was powered by a Chevle engine.

The 15 lap semi saw Russ Sorensen of Racine in another wire to wire win but he had tough competition from Dennis Burgen and Terry Vaughn.

Ten lap heat race winners were Claude Potter of Twin Lakes, Darnell, Bill Shoulders and Lee Weskaski. Shoulders recorded fastest time in the heats with a time of 51.02 mph. In the third race, Steve Stevens of Bruce Lake, Wis., flipped on the backstretch in this race but he was uninjured.

More than 40 cars took aim at each other in the two spectator heats. Dick Aissen of McHenry started in the back and staged a spectacular charge for the front. Had it been an 11 lap race instead of just ten, he might have caught and passed Harold Gutche and Blackie DeGroot for the win.

Will Winchester of Burlington was the winner in the other heat and Wild Bill Owens won the feature. 3800 fans rounded out the holiday

Father-Daughter Party
Every other organization in the area has Mother and Daughter affairs, but Brownie Troop 126 had the honor of having their Dads spend a whole afternoon with them. They had planned to have their outing at Bowen Woods in Waukegan, but when the day clouded up they thought they better have it closer to home and under cover. So, Lindenhurst Civic Center was the setting for the picnic. Ten fathers and two mothers attended besides the leader, Mrs. Irene Martinez, co-leader Mrs. Hanne Mathliessen, Mrs. Peggy Karry and Mrs. Norma Gibbs, assistants. Mrs. Richard Gans assisted with the younger children.

St. Mark's Lutheran

The Martha Circle will meet at Mrs. Edwin Erber's home on Grand Avenue in Lindenhurst Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

The Miriam Circle meeting has been postponed until the following Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

There will be a Council meeting at 7:45 p.m. Thursday, June 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Schneider presented flowers to the church Sunday in recognition of their 15th wedding anniversary.

Prince of Peace Church

The Altar and Rosary Society will receive Holy Communion together at the 8 o'clock Mass next Sunday.

The Holy Name Society will not receive Holy Communion at Prince of Peace Church on June 14. Instead, they will attend Mass and receive Holy Communion together at St. Nicholas Cathedral in Chicago at an Eastern Rites Church.

The annual rummage sale will be held on Friday, June 19, and Saturday, June 20. Please bring donations to the school building starting Saturday, June 6, and no later than June 15.

During June, July and August Sunday Masses will be at 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11:15 a.m. Weekday masses at 8 a.m.

Pack Meeting

Cub Scouts of Troop 84 held their monthly Pack meeting at the Hooper School last Thursday evening. Hank Weber received his Silver arrow.

Cub Scout tie bars were awarded to Randy Lipman, Robert Steinmetz, Hank Weber, Richard Wells, Steven Fish, Chuck Jordan, Greg Sorenson and David Hartwig for selling over the required number of eight tickets for the Boy Scout rally held last month.

Mrs. Evelyn Swanson's Den 3 performed on Indian dance and played Indian type games.

Mrs. Eleanor Bittner's Den 1 presented an Indian skit.

Boys of Cub Scout age are invited to attend any of their meetings. More den mothers are needed. If you are interested in helping or working with the boys, give one of the ladies a call. Mrs. Swanson's number is Elliot 6-4821.

"Night-Owls"

Dolores Povilaitis was hostess to the canasta club last Friday evening.

Men's Club Meeting

The Lindenhurst Men's Club will meet Thursday evening, June 4, at 8:15. All men in Lake Villa township are invited to attend. Claude Anderson is president.

Short Trip

Last Friday afternoon the Earl Spoigler family drove to the home of Mrs. Alma Rustad, back to her home in Manitowish, Mich. Mrs. Rustad left home last October, visiting in Detroit, Mich., and in Minnesota until March 30, when she arrived here.

Ing's sister, Miss Gudren Rustad of Chicago, also went along. It was her first trip home in about 25 years. They all came back Saturday, so they could attend the graduation party of their niece, Linda Harsch.

Baby Shower

Mrs. Donald Tuttle was guest of honor at a baby shower last week in the home of Mrs. Paul Blomquist. Mrs. Warren Flint was co-hostess.

The Turtles adopted a little boy when he was just a week old. Nineteen of Mrs. Tuttle's neighbors and friends from church attended.

Canasta Players

Dee Flint was hostess to her canasta club last Monday evening.

Retires

After working for the telephone company for 40 years and 2 months, Mrs. Al (Minnie) Hart of 2312 E. Briar Lane, retired last Thursday, May 28. Saying "good-bye" to her many friends in the office in Waukegan, was harder than saying "hello, your number please" the past 40 years. Having coffee and cake with some of her friends closed a chapter in her life and starts a new one.

March 12, Mrs. Hart was honored at a tea in the Waukegan office, along with two other ladies, for having 40 years service. She had been with the Rogers Park office for 34 years. She is the first woman to retire in this office, but by July 8, two more will have retired.

Mrs. Hart is a member of the Lake Villa VFW Auxiliary and was installed as conductress at last week's installation. She also spends a great deal of time at Downey Hospital visiting the patients with the Auxiliary members. Her husband, Al, is a trustee of Lindenhurst.

Lions Club Interest

If any of you Lions Club members are visiting Mesa, Arizona, Walter Willig, president, assures you he will give you a cordial welcome. He was installed May 23, after being a member for over five years.

Mr. Willig is a son of Walter Willig, Sr., a former resident of Fox Lake, and now a resident of Mesa. His sister, Mrs. Mike Pechous resides in Hainesville, Round Lake. He is also a cousin of Mrs. Bernice Bernau, Lindenhurst correspondent.

VFW Hold Joint Installation
The Lake Villa VFW Post 4308 and Auxiliary held a joint installation Sunday afternoon. Husbands, wives, children and friends of the new officers looked on while Mrs. Robert McLeland, MC, introduced the installing officer, Mrs. Alfred Vaughn, past Fifth District president. The conductress escorted Mrs. Marge Suhling, president; Mrs. Evelyn Whitmore, senior vice president; Mrs. Arlene Kelly, junior vice president; Mrs. Florence Petersen, chaplain; Mrs. Minnie Hart, conductress; Mrs. Lucila Stanley, treasurer; Mrs. Lovina Fetter, guard; and Mrs. Cecile Blumenschein, 3-year trustee.

Delegates to the district meetings are Mrs. Frances Barnstable, Mrs. Evelyn Whitmore and Mrs. Florence Petersen. Alternates are Lillian Gray, Lovina Fetter and Helen Page.

Charles (Chuck) Reinhart received a standing ovation in appreciation of his services the past year, serving as commander. A beautiful bouquet of roses was to have been given to Mrs. Cecile Blumenschein, the outgoing president of the Auxiliary, but the active little lady had left. (She later received them.)

The Kadette Color Guard was present for the ceremonies. Supper was served to all present.

Motorists should hold their own lanes on superhighways, advises the Chicago Motor Club. The few seconds gained by weaving from one lane to another are not worth the risk involved.

State Bank's Ad Campaign Gets Mention

The highly successful advertising program of the State Bank of Antioch was the subject of a one and one-half page article, complete with pictures of two of their ads, in the magazine, Mid-Continent Banker, for May 16, 1964.

The bank's firm belief in the value of newspaper advertising, backed up by records of increases in business in advertised services, is detailed in the article.

Speech Clinic At Gavin

A special clinic for children with speech disabilities or problems will be held again this summer at the Gavin Central School, Rt. 59, as well as in Waukegan, sponsored by the Lake County Easter Seal Society. "This is the second consecutive year that this program has been made available to county children," according to Pearl Alexander, director of the Easter Seal Treatment Program in Lake County.

The program, under the direction of fully qualified speech therapists, will provide intensive therapy over a six week period for children with communication problems associated with speech and/or hearing.

The Gavin School was selected because of its location, and the ability its use would provide in serving as much of Lake County as possible.

Scout News

The ladies of Sequoyah neighborhood Girl Scouts held a pot-luck meeting at Camp Morrison on May 28, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. The new officers were installed as follows:

Mrs. Dorothy Derderian—Chairman; Mrs. Olive Albrecht, vice-chairman; Mrs. Virginia Barlow, secretary; June Gelsick, treasurer.

The outgoing officers are: Mrs. Evelyn Sedivec, chairman; Mrs. Dorothy Derderian, vice-chairman; Carol Corvenka, secretary.

A statuette of a Girl Scout was given to Mrs. Sedivec from the members of the council in appreciation of past performances.

Mrs. Sedivec has been active in Girl Scouting since 1940 when she became a Scout leader and worked her way up to Neighborhood Chairman, giving many hours of her time to organizing Girl Scout Troops and doing many other things for the good of the organization. She will not be idle, however, as a new group has been formed called a Service Team, of which Mrs. Sedivec and Mrs. Surrock are in charge.

Mrs. Henry gave a report on the planning of day camp and so far all seems to be going well.

Ruth Sonnen gave a report regarding Special Service projects on sewing and cooking for the girls in the near future.

The Memorial Day parade was discussed by Mrs. Lillian Burnett.

Mrs. Derderian and Mrs. LaParr received from Mrs. Sedivec a token of her appreciation for all the help they gave her while she was in office.

A Service project was also mentioned to take care of fund raising. Mr. and Mrs. Farrier of the Antioch Skating Rink were guests who gave some ideas on that subject along with a skating program.

CUB SCOUT PACK 192
Cub Scout Pack 192 held its pack meeting at 7:30 p.m. May 28 at the Scout House.

The theme for May was the First American. All the Cubs and many of the parents were dressed as Indians. The flag ceremony was presented by Den 8. Color guards were Mark Maras and John Vojtech.

Hospital favors were made by Den 9. Den mother Jackie Green reported that over 50 tray favors were taken to the Zion Hospital.

Indian dances were put on by each of the dens.

Cubmaster Hollstern and Mr. Gordon DeBoer presented awards. Kent Barlow received a Wolf badge, Peter Laursen a Wolf badge and a Gold arrow. Wolf arrows were awarded Jim Fischer, Leonard Benning, Joe Bleck, Jeff Kroepelin and John Thain.

A Gold and Silver Bear arrow went to Joe Bleck. Jeff Kroepelin and Bob Kennedy received Silver arrows.

Don Irving received a Lion badge and a Gold arrow. Greg Benning was awarded a Lion badge.

Denner stripes were awarded Jim Fischer and Bob Bevar. Jerry Smouse received an assistant denner stripe.

Greg Benning, Bob Kennedy and Gary Kovachny received year pins.

Mr. Wes Camp and Scout Gary Burnett.

Dr. Thain reported the Lad and Dad hike had a good turn-out and that the outing was enjoyed by all.

Cubmaster Hollstern reported a very successful Scouting Exposition at the Lake County Fair Grounds May 18. Many boys received neckerchief slides for the sale of 8 or more tickets. Bob Kennedy received 1st prize for his sale of tickets. Bob sold 45 tickets. Bill Hogstrom was second, selling 40 tickets. Leonard Benning was 3rd for selling 24 tickets.

We wish to thank Mr. Kennedy and Mr. Kovachny for their help at the Exposition. All boys who worked in the Cub Scout booth will receive 1964 Exposition segments.

Den Mother awards for a year of service were given to Mrs. Jackie Green, Mrs. Betty Christensen, Mrs. Janice Hagstrom and Mrs. Jackie Kennedy.

The Cub Scouts of Pack 192 took part in the Memorial Day parade May 30, 1964.

The Cub Scout picnic for Pack 192 will be held June 14. The location and other information about the picnic will be announced later by the den mothers.

CUB SCOUT NEWS
PACK 300
Cubmaster Leo Bogaerts presided over the monthly meeting of Pack 300. There was no opening ceremony due to graduation services pending, but the Pledge of Allegiance was led by the Webelos and Den 4.

The boys were rewarded for having attended the recent Scout-O-Rama held at the Lake County Fair grounds with segment badges and an arrowhead neckerchief slide given to those who sold their allotted eight tickets for the program.

The boys are anxiously awaiting next month's meeting. The outing will be held on the grounds of the Conservation Club which is located approximately 2½ miles west of Antioch off of Route 173. It is rumored there will be Indians and an abundant supply of hot dogs and pop. The meeting will be June 25 at 7:30 p.m. Refreshments were served by Den 5.

Beach Grove

By Del Jahnke

Mr. and Mrs. William Hansen, Sr., and son, William, Beach Grove, have just returned from a two week vacation trip to Florida. Mr. Hansen is an insurance salesman for the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, and he had won a week of their vacation at Hollywood, Fla., through his sales qualifications during the past year.

The Hansen family, with five other couples of this Lake County area, were guests of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. and stayed at the Diplomat Hotel, complete with golf courses, swimming pools, and a wonderful view of the Atlantic Ocean.

Mr. and Mrs. Hansen then visited the William Hansen family, formerly of Beach Grove, at Miami, Fla., and were guests of the Richard Hansens (Mr. Hansen's brother), in Jacksonville, Fla. They then drove through the Smoky Mountains on their trip home.

Mr. and Mrs. William Terry and children of Decatur, Ill., were visitors at their home on their return, and stayed for several days. Mrs. Terry is the former Carol Hansen.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Jahnke, Beach Grove, accompanied by Miss Nancy Mack of Barrington, attended the "Honors Day" program at the Onarga Military School, Onarga, Ill., Memorial Day weekend.

Mr. Phillip Maxwell of the Chicago Tribune presented two gold and two silver medal awards to four outstanding Seniors. Cadet Sergeant Ed Jahnke, Jr., then escorted Miss Mack to the Formal Military Summer Prom. On Sunday after graduation ceremonies, all the school cadets passed "in review" before the Class Seniors. The Senior commissioned officers then presented their swords to the newly appointed officers for the next year. This presentation is one of the highlights of their final parade of the present school year.

GAA Awards—to those receiving 700, 1000, 1200 and 2000 points.

Pop Club—8 pins awarded for outstanding work.

DAR Award—Anita Daniels.

Lyle Foulke accepted a flag from the Farm Bureau's Women's Federation.

Miss Frances Murphy received the "C" Club award and a bouquet of roses for spiriting the scoreboard fund.

Chairman of Millburn Doughnut Drive Day

Mrs. Milton Anderson, Rt. 2, Lake Villa, will be the chairman for Millburn for the Salvation Army's Doughnut Day drive. The drive will be sponsored by the Millburn PTA.

Picnic For Grove School

Members of the board of the Grove School for Handicapped Children are sponsoring a picnic for the children on Saturday, July 11, at the Servian Monastery Grounds on Route 63 in Libertyville. Handicapped children will be admitted free and provided with tickets for free refreshments.

Proceeds of the picnic will be used to establish a residential treatment center with

Pick a Chevrolet and fill in the spaces

Now's the time to see the great outdoors in a great Chevrolet buy!

Here you are on the brink of vacation time. There's your Chevrolet dealer in the midst of Trade 'N' Travel Time. You two should get together! Object—celebrating the joys of summer in a new Chevrolet.

Why a Chevrolet? Well, with 15 models in four series, what possible reason is there to look further?

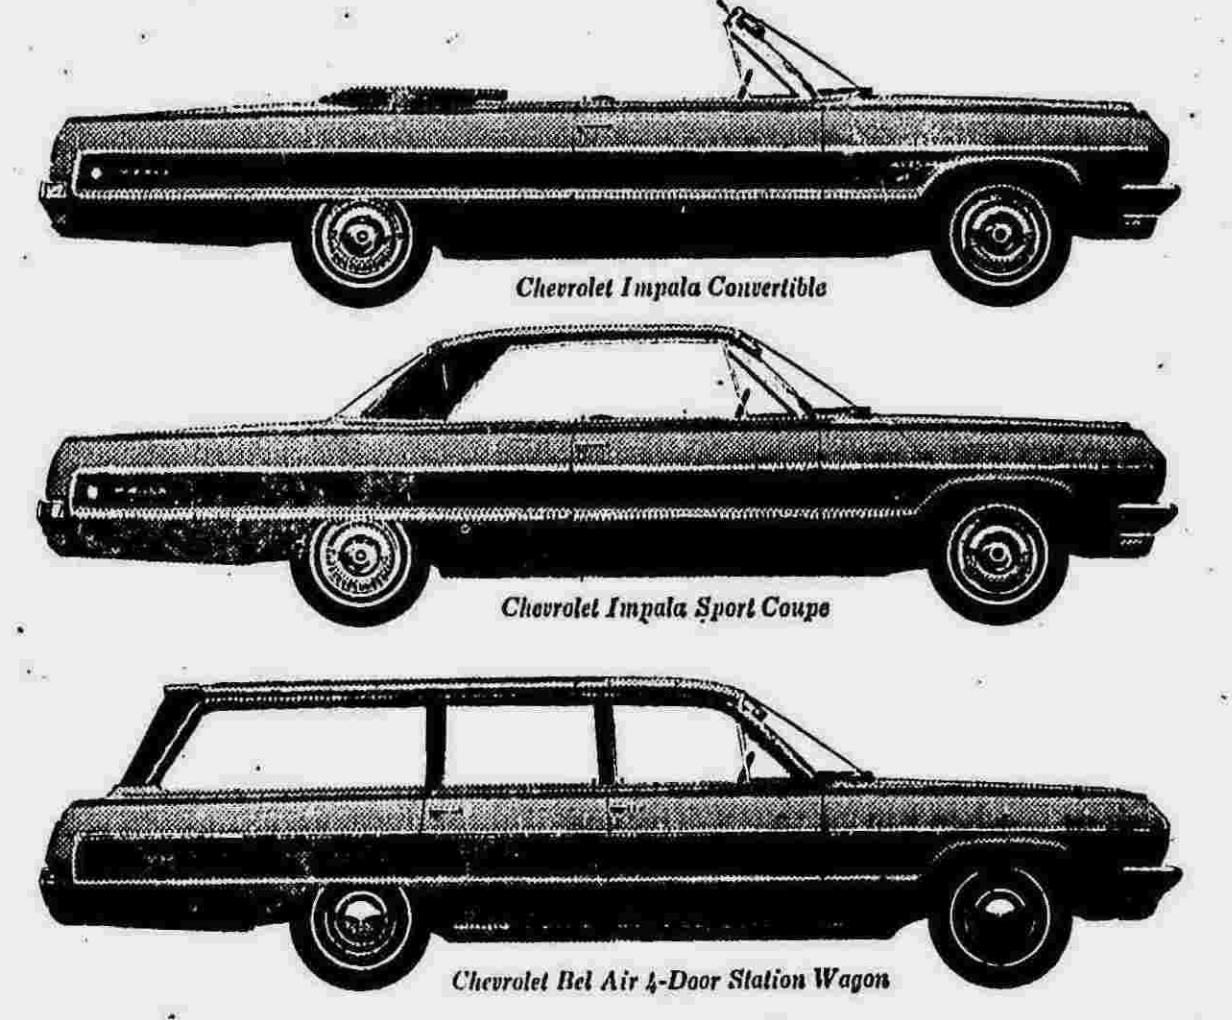

Take the Impala Super Sport (and a lot of people do just that). Comes as a Sport Coupe or Convertible. Has trimmings like front bucket seats, center console, special trim—all as standard equipment. And offers a typically Chevrolet array of extra-cost options.

Plain Impalas are anything but. They come in all popular body styles, including wagons. They're dressed up to a far-thee-well: fully carpeted interiors, upholstery as durable as it is attractive.

Bel Airs and Biscaynes, the lower priced Chevrolets, make a practice of hiding it. All the conveniences, no sacrificing comfort or style.

Did we mention that Trade 'N' Travel Time won't last forever? It won't. So see your Chevrolet dealer. Then go fill in the spaces.

Look again...

and you'll buy gas

If you're about to look for a new range, you'll look at gas because you've always known gas ranges are the most dependable, most economical and easiest to use of any ranges.

Today's gas ranges are all this and a lot more. For example: modern gas ranges offer the Burner-with-a-Brain for precise top-of-range cooking to end messy spill-overs. Programmed oven cooking roasts food to perfection, then keeps it serving-hot for hours, automatically. Infra-red broiling and rotisserie roasting are a few of the many other convenience features you'll find in today's gas ranges.

And don't forget, every gas range gives you instant control of the precise heat you want. No wonder women who cook modern say: "Nothing minds you like a modern gas range."

LOOK AGAIN. See the exciting, smartly styled new gas slide-ins, built-ins and free standing models at your favorite appliance dealer's or your nearby Northern Illinois Gas Company showroom.

Veteran Actor At Age Twelve

STEVE SMOUSE

Twelve years old and a veteran actor is an apt description of Stephen Smouse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Smouse.

His part as "Jimmy" in "Nothing Ever Happens in This Town" marks the fourth time he has appeared in a P.M.&L. production. Previous shows were "Teahouse of the August Moon," "The Happy Journey to Camden and Trenton," and a walk-on in "Night Must Fall."

Steve and his younger brother Jerry were borrowed from Antioch Grade School to appear in the high school's Fall production of "J.B."

Steve's other activities include playing trombone in the grade school band, being an active member of Boy Scout Troop 92, and occasionally singing with the Methodist Church Choir as a soloist.

Nothing Ever Happens in This Town will be his first step onto the musical comedy stage and will help fill out a promising career for this young seventh grader.

Don't forget, if you don't go to other folks' funerals you can't expect them to come to yours.—Orfordville Journal.

Coulson Urges College For Two Counties

The Provisional Master Plan for higher education which is under consideration by the Illinois Board of Higher Education came in for some sharp objections by Senator Robert Coulson (R). Appearing as a witness before the Commission in Chicago, Coulson urged the Commission to treat Northeastern Illinois as a separate population area instead of including it within a Greater Chicago plan.

"McHenry and Lake Counties have the school population, the employment opportunities and the geographical need for a separately planned college," Senator Coulson said. "Our need is for a college within commuter range, and the new University facility in Chicago is simply too far to serve us."

Coulson urged the Commission to consider uniting the present extension services of the Northern Illinois University at DeKalb, now with classes in several of the high schools, into a single facility somewhere midway between DeKalb and Waukegan, with a view to combining these into an accredited two year college facility and ultimately creating a separate new university in this area. It appeared from the questions and comments of his listeners that many commission members were unaware of the great population in McHenry and Lake counties which is presently not served by any university.

BEATRICE PERRY of Antioch painted this picture of "Waldo" which hangs in the Antioch Moose Lodge.

To Attend Student Council Training

Thomas Winfield, a senior-to-be, was elected by the Student Council to attend the Student Council's Leadership Training Center from August 10 to August 15 at Kelley's Island just outside Sandusky, Ohio.

The purposes of this training center are:
1. Teaching the philosophy, purpose, organization and activities of the Student Council in the secondary school.
2. Giving experience in the skills and techniques of democratic group leadership.
3. Emphasizing the educational nature of student activities.
4. Organizing and working in council groups to demonstrate practical experience in school situations.

Channel Lake News

By Louise Gutowski 395-1317

The Channel Lake Safety Patrol went to Riverview Park in Chicago Wednesday, May 27. The group is under the direction of Mr. Donald Behling and takes this trip every year at the end of the school term.

The eighth grade graduating class went to Chicago Thursday, May 28, on their class trip. The trip included dinner at the Black Hawk Restaurant and the movie "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World" at the McVicker's Theater in Chicago's Loop. On the way home the group stopped at the tollway Oasis for a snack. The class and their guests had a very enjoyable evening. The class helped earn the money for this trip by selling candy earlier in the school term.

The Channel Lake PTA at its last meeting of the school year held installation of officers in the school gym. Those installed were Dorothy Enzenbacher, president; Corrine Case, vice-president; Louise Gutowski, secretary; Lorraine Lemke, historian, and Jean Soby, parliamentarian. Mary Blerman conducted the installation. Barbara Bjork will be installed as treasurer at a later meeting, as she was unable to attend the meeting.

Health Dept. Makes Survey

A survey of the patient population of all nursing homes in Lake County is now under way. Dr. Arthur G. Baker, Director of the Lake County Health Department, announced today. Purpose of the survey is to determine the number and kinds of patients who receive care in nursing homes and their needs. The information obtained will provide a basis for future planning for nursing home requirements.

At present there are 14 nursing homes with a total of 776 beds available in this county. Two new homes now under construction in Waukegan will provide an additional 150 beds in the current year. By comparison there are approximately 1100 beds available in the six general hospitals in Lake County.

The survey now under way will provide information about the age, sex, and home address of patients. Information will also be obtained about the ability of patients to walk about and the number confined to beds. Observation will also be made about the mental status of the nursing home patients, Dr. Baker pointed out.

In addition to an evaluation of each individual patient, the study will also show the kinds of personnel employed to give patient care in each home.

"The administrators of the nursing home have provided us with a 100% response. This insures that our accumulated data will be valid. The data obtained will be summarized in a consolidated manner and will not divulge information about individual nursing homes. This is a fact finding survey. It will not affect the licensure status of the home," Dr. Baker concluded.

A report on this survey will be published when the study is completed.

The Chicago Motor Club cautions motorists always to make certain children are securely seated while the car is being driven. Squabbling, restless children in an automobile upset a driver's concentration and make him more accident prone. Children not properly seated can be injured if a sudden stop is necessary.

Mr. Alphonse Sinkus, Chicago, Ill.—"I like the style of the '64 Ford. It is so very comfortable. No trouble in parking. Now we're a two-Ford family and I'm happy about it."

Mrs. Erwin J. Schwab, Chicago, Ill.—"Nice car with enough room, and economy, too. From a woman's standpoint, the style is what I like. I like the way this car handles much better than my old Chevy."

Mr. Ronald Brown, Evanston, Ill.—"This is the first time I have owned a Ford. I compared and tested both a Chevy and a Ford. The Ford rides a lot better than the Chevy. I think the Cruise-O-Matic transmission is better than the Chevy transmission for economy and smoothness."

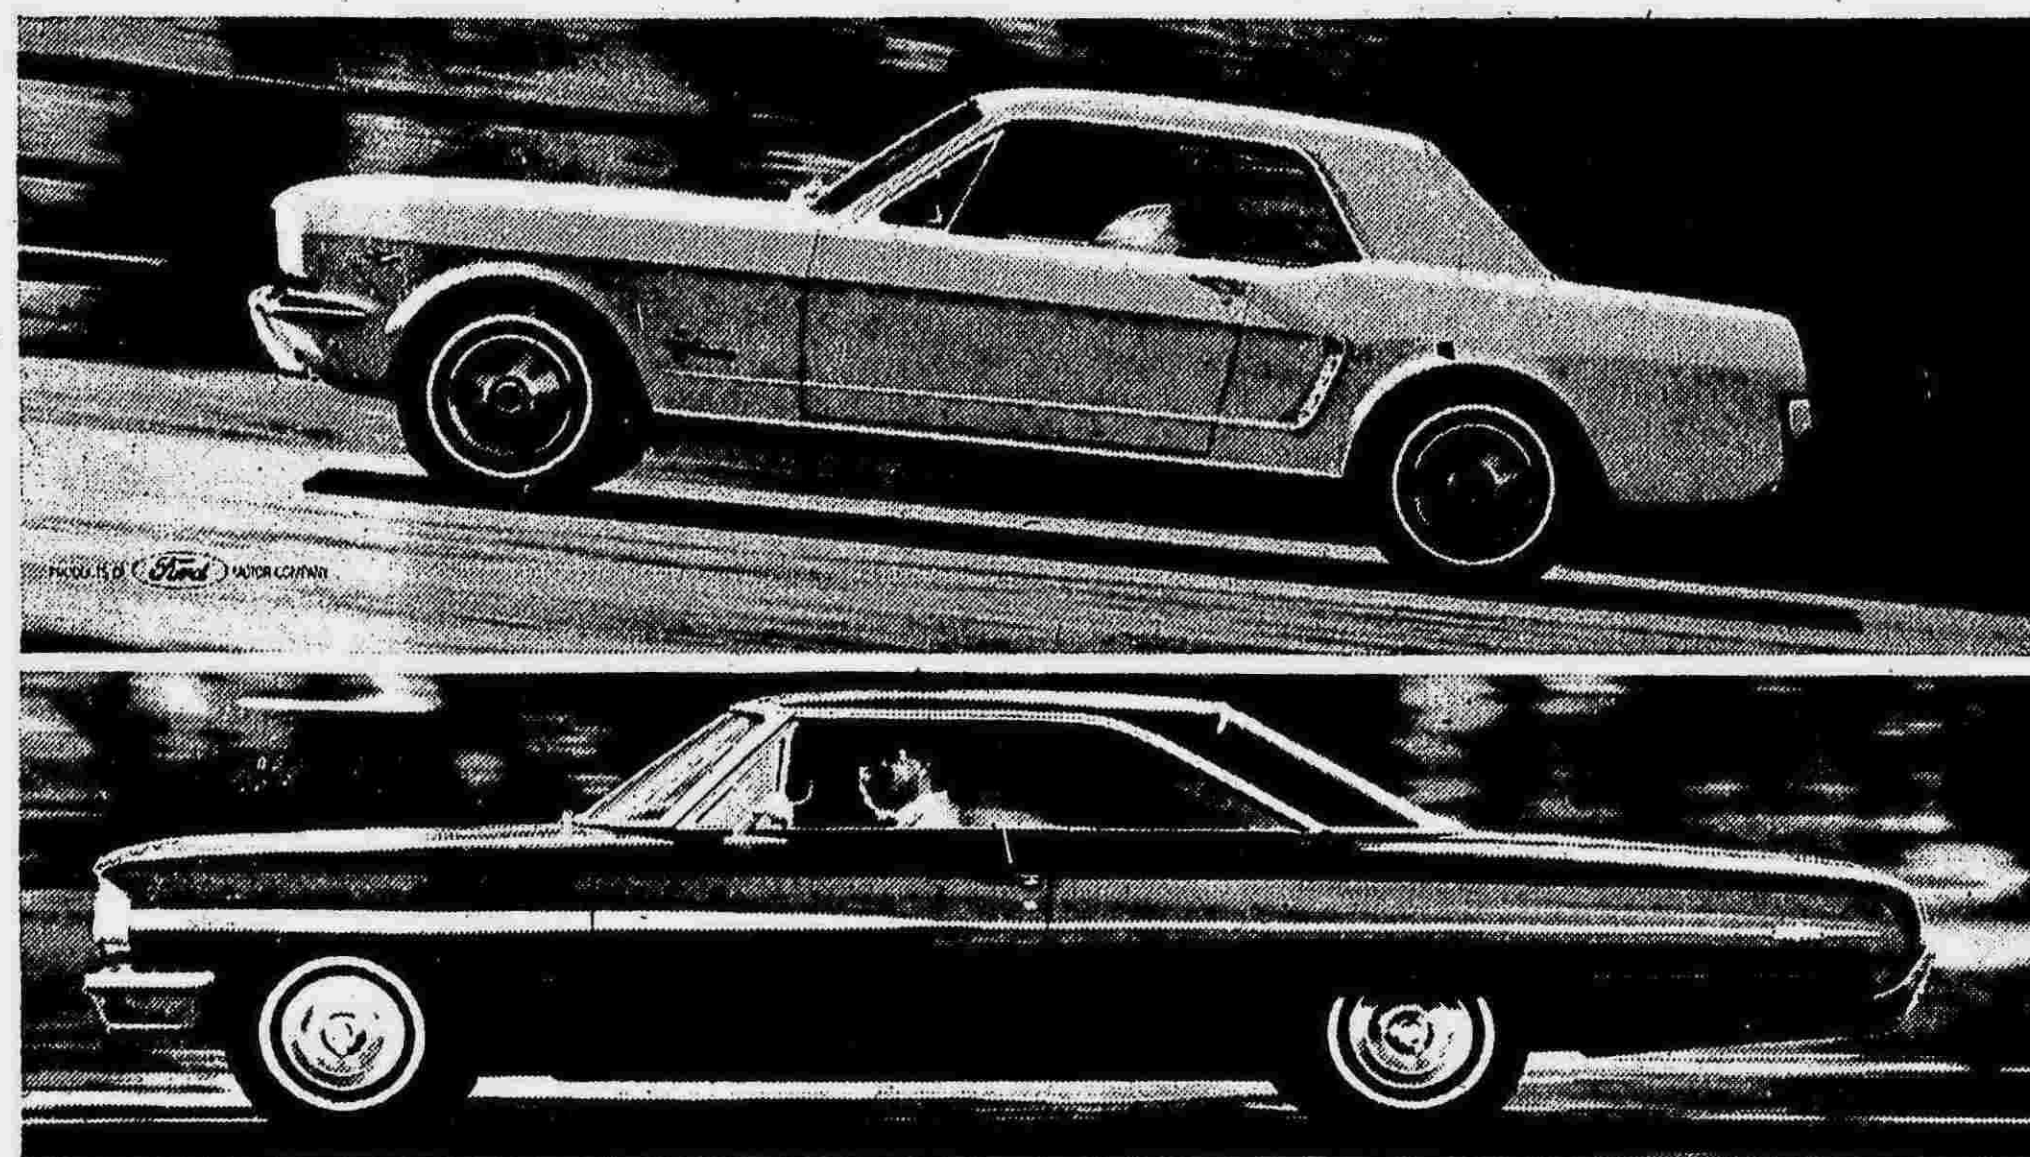

Mr. Robert Tranter, Chicago, Ill.—"My new Ford handles much better and rides much better than my old car. With the Ford, which has an 8-cylinder engine, we get much better gas mileage than we did with the 6-cylinder Chevy."

Mrs. Helen Zopf, Chicago, Ill.—"I like the size, especially in traffic and parking. The car seems very economical. It is much better than my Chevrolet. I find it very comfortable. My daughter Maureen drives, too, and the Falcon seems just right for her. I'd say it was the ideal family car... it seems to run forever on a dollar's worth of gas!"

LAKE COUNTY ZONING BOARD OF APPEALS

B. F. GENTRY
Chairman
Dated at Waukegan, Illinois, this 4th day of June, 1964. (49)

SPECIAL TOWN MEETING
Notice is hereby given to the legal voters, residents of the Town of Antioch, in the County of Lake and State of Illinois, that a special town meeting will take place on Tuesday, the 16th of June, 1964.

A petition having been received, signed by the Supervisor, Town Clerk, and the board of town auditors of Antioch Township, Lake County, Illinois, hereby state that it is necessary that a special town meeting be called for the best interests of the town, the object of the meeting being:

To levy a tax for the support and maintenance of a township Library under the provisions of "an act to authorize cities, villages, incorporated towns and townships to establish and maintain free public libraries and reading rooms"; the object being to increase the present rate from .035 to .12.

The special town meeting will be held at the hour of 2 o'clock p.m. on said day at the Fire Station in said town. Given under my hand at Antioch, Illinois this 11th day of May A. D. 1964.

"Never Give Up, Keep Trying" - Herman Holbek

by Pearl Kapell

Where do you start, writing about Herman Holbek and the Rescue Squad? With the sad stories, the funny ones, the tragic, the shocking, grisly sights, that have been part of his experience in twenty-five years and perhaps 4,000 or more calls in Rescue Squad work?

Or with his statements of the principles that should guide a good Rescue Squad man—"Keep cool. Don't rush. Examine before you move. And never give up as long as there's the faintest hope."

Maybe the best place to start is with one of the first things Herman said to me.

For many years, particularly in the early years before the Squad became known far outside Antioch as an excellent, and at that time, almost unique, organization, the Rescue Squad and Herman Holbek were almost synonymous, in the minds of most people around Antioch. Herman was usually in the driver's seat when you saw the squad go by; he worked hard to collect money to finance the squad; in the days when money was hard to come by, and the Squad hadn't gained supporters; he took more First Aid training than anyone else.

Herman promptly disclaimed credit. "One man didn't make a Rescue Squad," he said. "We had a fine crew, right from the start. They were darned good men. (If you know Herman, you know he didn't say 'darned'.) Sure I worked hard, they all did. Herman Rosing, Deke Powles, they were some of the first. Lloyd Murrie, Einar Petersen, Walter Scott—they never complained about going out, any hour of the day or night."

The squad started as a branch of the Antioch Fire Department, but soon separated from the Department to become a separate unit. The men soon made it a rule that a man couldn't belong to both organizations—he was too apt to be called at the same time for both units.

The only equipment the squad had to start with was an E & J machine (inhalator), Herman says. They answered calls in their own cars, and if they had to move a patient their cars were ambulances. Getting that first truck, Herman reminisced, was a tough job.

The men sponsored affairs to raise money, and asked for donations anywhere they could find them. "Some people thought we were crazy, to try to start such a thing," Herman said. "They never heard of such a thing. Money was scarce, and if a man gave us $1.00, or $2.00, we thought we were doing pretty good. We all paid for our own expenses, when we were out trying to raise money."

"But we needed some big money. I went to Bill Just, in Waukegan. He called some of the head men at the big industries. I got $100.00 from one, $150.00 from another. The Waukegan News-Sun backed us up. We finally got our first truck."

It was so light," Herman laughed, remembering, "that we had to get two pieces of railroad track and bolt them on each side to weight it down. Now we got so much equipment in our trucks, we have to get heavy-duty springs to hold it."

The men sponsored dances at the old Channel Lake pavilion to raise money. They went out and sold tickets and their reception wasn't always good. "Walter Scott and me, we went out together to sell tickets to tavern owners," Herman said. "Well, you know, every place we went in, we had to buy a drink first, or the owner wouldn't even bother with us. We got pretty tired of that, after a few nights, so we put on our uniforms and went out. We have a rule, you can't drink with the uniform on, so we tell the tavern owners that. The second place we went to, there was a wealthy man in there, and he wanted to buy us a drink. We told him we couldn't take a drink. He says, 'Take a drink with me, I'll buy ten tickets.' $10.00, that was a lot of money then. So we did. He says, 'Have another.' We said no. He says, 'Have another with me, I'll buy ten more tickets.' Well, he bought $150 worth of tickets, but Walter and me, we sure got sick of selling tickets."

Antioch's was the first Rescue Squad in the State of Illinois, and for many years the only one. We helped other towns start squads, when they got interested," Herman said. "We'd give the men First Aid courses and help 'em get organized. Fox Lake, Burlington, Lake Villa, Twin Lakes—they've all got their own squads now."

Herman got all the First Aid training he could get when the squad first started. He took First Aid courses in the days when doctors were the instructors. He himself, taught First Aid classes all over the county by the time World War II came along.

HERMAN HOLBEK

He spent three strictly unauthorized weeks in the accident admission room at County Hospital, with a Waukegan doctor to cut the red tape for him. He listened and watched and learned as doctors explained to interns what must be done, what to guard against, what to watch out for. "That's where I had it drummed into me, to always check for a broken neck, a broken back, before you move an injured person," Herman said. "A broken arm, a broken leg—they can be fixed. But you can't mend a broken neck or back. And I drum that into the new fellows on the squad. If you're in doubt, treat 'em like they've got a broken neck or back. You slide 'em onto a board," Herman said, "and pile sandbags around 'em so they can't move. Lots of doctors have complimented us on probably saving people's lives by taking precautions."

"Bleeding, the broken neck, a good splint on an arm or leg—it's more important to take your time at the scene of an accident and take care of those things than it is to rush 'em to the hospital," Herman said. "It don't pay to go tearing in at top speed—sometimes a bad bump can do a lot more harm than the hospital can undo. You can't depend on the siren to clear the way, either," Herman said. "If the other guy's got his windows closed, he don't even hear it."

"With carbon monoxide cases, drownings and electrocutions, keep on working even when there doesn't seem to be any hope," Herman said. "We've saved some, even after doctors have said they were dead. We were called to Fox Lake once. Two girls had drowned. The doctor pronounced them dead. We kept working on them, and revived one after three and one-half hours of work. She lived. That makes you feel good."

"And a little boy, we revived him. He lived, he's grown up now, lives here in Antioch. Same way with carbon monoxide poisoning, it's hard to be sure they're beyond help."

"With the drownings, though, don't let anybody kid you, if they've really been under water more than four or five minutes there's no hope."

"Ninety-seven drowning cases, I've been on," Herman said. "When we were the only squad, of course, we got called to all the lakes around here to drag for bodies. Called to Des Plaines, Waukegan—sometimes I'd be away from the store for a week at a time. The one in Des Plaines, we had to cut and move the ice to drag. It was in December."

Early Stories of Rescue Squad In The Antioch News

1940 is the year when funds were being raised to purchase the first Antioch Rescue Squad truck. The Antioch News that year carried stories regularly of the donations being received and the growth of the fund.

The Antioch News of January 11, 1940, carried the following story:

"ANTIOCH MEN NOT WANTED? AT RED CROSS MEET", said the headline on that early story.

"Just what is there so secret or so sacred about the proposed purchase of a 'Lake County' Red Cross First aid rescue truck—that invited visitors from sister cities have to be discouraged from attending a meeting in Waukegan?—Antioch and Kenosha Red Cross men are pondering that question today."

That's how the story started in that issue of 24 years ago.

It goes on to tell that Captain L. D. Powles and Lieutenant Herman Holbek of the Antioch Rescue Squad, and Arthur LaCrosse, second in command of the Kenosha Rescue squad, were invited to a meeting in Waukegan by the Board of Directors of the Lake County Red Cross Chapter. The meeting was purportedly to discuss the proposed purchase of a Red Cross first aid rescue truck to be used in answering calls for any MAJOR disaster in Lake County.

The Antioch men and their Kenosha friend, the story goes on, went to Waukegan to attend the meeting and offer their 100% support. They were also interested in learning the type of service the new unit would offer and how far out in the county it would go.

According to advance publicity, the proposed truck would be purchased with donated funds, collected under the auspices of the Red Cross.

Powles, Holbek and LaCrosse, accompanied by John Horan, a member of the Antioch Fire Dept., drove to Waukegan for the meeting.

To quote again from the newspaper account, "On their arrival, they report, they were greeted in the hall by the board member who had asked them to be present."

"The chairman of the Lake County Red Cross, Mayor Mancel Talcott of Waukegan, was summoned to the hallway outside the meeting room to greet them."

"But in place of the welcome they had expected, the visiting delegation was greeted by his honor with the question, 'Well, what seems to be the matter here?'"

"Somewhat taken aback, since all Red Cross meetings are, by national regulation, also open meetings, the visiting delegates recovered from their surprise sufficiently to assure Mayor Talcott that so far as they knew, nothing was the matter, and they had journeyed over to offer their co-operation and any assistance they could give."

Not only were they not welcomed to the meeting, the men reported, but they were given a very cold reception by hizzoner, and it was rather more than implied that they were not supposed to attend the meeting.

Not wishing to force their way into the meeting, the men returned home, the story relates. But as they stood in the hallway, they did ask the Mayor a few questions, from which they learned that the Waukegan unit would only leave Waukegan in the event of a major disaster.

A History of The Rescue Squad

As Told by John Horan

In 1939 three Antioch firemen, Herman Rosing, Herman Holbek and L. D. Powles decided to establish something more advanced in First Aid work.

They called on Captain Howard Gatliff of the Kenosha County Rescue Unit and Lieutenant Arthur LaCrosse, Lieutenant LaCrosse, a registered First Aid instructor, assisted the men in starting the unit.

Additional firemen were added for a total of 12 men, Richard F. Allner, Howard Strang, James McMillen, Clarence B. Shultis, Walter Scott, Walter Kraft, Einar Petersen, John L. Horan and James Mullaney of Public Service Co.

The Antioch Rescue Squad was finally able to purchase a truck, with a fund raised by public donations, which was delivered in June of 1940.

The truck was at first housed in the Fire Dept. building. In March of 1941, a two-way radio was installed. The first year the truck was in service, 74 persons were given First Aid.

On Sept. 9, 1941, at a regular business meeting of the Antioch Volunteer Fire Department, a resolution was acted on calling for the separation of the Rescue Squad from the Fire Dept.

In 1946, the Antioch Lions Club took over the job of soliciting funds for the Rescue Squad.

Plans for a building for the Rescue Squad finally got under way. On November 11, 1952, Open House was held in the new building, adjacent to the Fire Dept. Cost of the building was about $18,000. It contains meeting quarters, storage space for extra equipment and double door entrance for two trucks.

A siren was installed on the roof of the building in 1956.

Congratulations

Back in 1939 three men had an idea that has culminated in probably the finest organization the Chain O' Lakes area has ever seen.

When Herman Holbek, Herman Rosing and L. D. Powles gave birth to the idea of a separate emergency Rescue Squad they didn't realize the many problems they would encounter, nor the far reaching affect the unit would have.

Since those early days many changes have been made in their equipment and their techniques. The old 1940 Ford truck was replaced by a Chevrolet truck, the Chevy by an Oldsmobile ambulance, and the ambulance by a 1960 GMC truck. The squad has recently added another 1963 GMC unit.

One thing that hasn't changed . . . when the siren blows the men respond. Any time of the day or night.

It is a comforting thought to the people of the area they serve to know that there is a body of men with the equipment and knowhow awaiting their call.

On their 25th birthday we take pleasure in offering our congratulations and sincere thanks.

"At first, we just had one hook on a rope to drag with, when there were drownings," Herman said. "Then we got a dragging bar, and later George Bartlett perfected it so it didn't clog up with weeds. He patented his improvements. We still use the one he fixed up—a bar with five hooks, collapsible so it's easy to store in the truck."

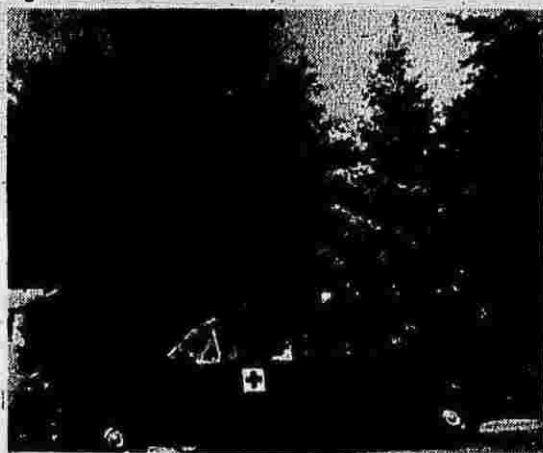

Herman delivered a set of twins (with Ev Oftedahl) and two single births. The twins still send him monogrammed handkerchiefs at Christmas.

What's the toughest job in Rescue Squad work? Recovering the bodies of little children who have drowned, Herman says. "It doesn't bother me anymore, dragging for the grown-ups," Herman said, "but the little ones—when those little white shoes break water I'm done. I'm shot to pieces for a week."

Herman must have had a good many humorous experiences in his years on the squad, but the one he remembers best was a call to Loon Lake, a good many years ago. When he answered the phone, an agitated woman's voice cried, "Come quick, my mother's bleeding to death." Cutting her short to get the address of the caller, Herman and a companion dashed out there. Herman walked in the door first, and was promptly clonked resoundingly on the head with a beer bottle. "Such a fight I never saw," Herman said. "The room seemed to be full of people, throwing beer bottles, dishes—there was even mud on the walls. It was a family fight. They didn't need the Rescue Squad, they needed the police, and we called 'em. I had a lump on my head for a week."

Herman retires as Captain of the Rescue Squad this year, "But I'll never retire from the squad," Herman said.

He has lived in Antioch 28 years. He operated the Ben Franklin store on Main St., for 20 years. He has a son, Richard, 22, by his first wife; his wife, Doris, and he have three children—Hugo 17, Herman, Jr., 14, and Jean, 8 years old. Herman now is assistant cashier in the Treasurer's office in the County Courthouse in Waukegan.

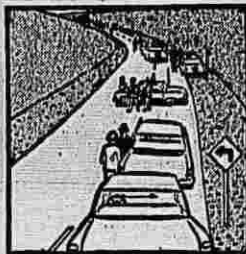

The 1956 Oldsmobile ambulance. Ultimately sold to Patenjim Auto Racing and now being used as an ambulance at the Kenosha County Speedway.

THE DANGEROUS AGE

The insurance agent laid down his pen and glanced up from the application form he was completing. "Are there any boys under 28 years of age in your family who will be driving this car?"

"Yes," replied the applicant. "We have a son who recently passed his driver's license test. What difference does that make?" "It means the premium which you have been paying is going to be doubled," said the agent. "Boys are expensive when it comes to car insurance."

"The policeman said five were killed, one is still alive. The driver was only 20 years old."

"But that's hardly fair," protested the father. "My son is a good, careful driver. I taught him myself." "Congratulations," said the agent. "I hope you are right. However, the insurance companies say they are losing money on young male drivers, even at the increased rates. If you think this is high, just wait until your boy gets his own car. His premium will be three times what you have been paying."

Automobile casualty insurance rates are based on cold, hard facts . . . namely, accident experience records. For example, 9.54% of all Illinois drivers are males between the ages of 19 and 28. An analysis of 718,000 accident reports shows that this group was involved in 11.25% of the collisions. This is a plain indication that many of the young men have not been behaving themselves properly on the streets and highways.

Ernest Westlund

Why does a man join the Rescue Squad?

Ernie Westlund said he joined because he wanted to do something for the community, and he believed he could make the greatest contribution by working through the Rescue Squad.

What are the rewards? "Just the satisfaction of serving," Ernie says. "My work with the squad has given me much personal satisfaction."

"The old people and the children," Ernie said, "That's the real reward, when you help one of them. Some of these old people, they're so grateful for a little help."

Ernie lives at 915 David St. in Antioch with his wife, Barbara, and three children, Ernest, Jr., 18 years old, a 1964 graduate of Antioch High School; Carol, 13, attending Antioch Grade School, and Kay Bea, 4. Ernie, Jr., plans to attend the University of Illinois to major in Commercial Art and Business Administration next year.

Ernie's a mortician—he operates the Westlund Funeral Service, a service to funeral directors. He was raised in Washburn, Wis., and attended Superior State College, in Chicago. He had experience in ambulance work in Chicago, then served in the Navy as a first class Pharmacist's mate. He attended submarine school in the Navy, and served 2 years on an LST. All of this training, particularly the work as a pharmacist's mate, made Rescue Squad work a natural for Ernie.

"This is just emergency first aid work," Ernie says. "As a pharmacist's mate, I was the nearest thing to a doctor on board. If something had to be done, I had to do it."

"I don't mean Rescue Squad work is easy," he went on. "It isn't. It's plain hard work, lots of times. Maybe a couple of guys have to carry a big 200-pounder down a narrow stairs on a stretcher. You have to jump out of bed at all hours of the night, any kind of weather. Maybe you're rushing somebody to the hospital, when minutes count, and some guy gets in front of you, going thirty or forty miles an hour, and won't pull over and let you pass."

"If I've got a pet peeve, I guess that's it," Ernie said. "The people who ignore the siren, and won't give you a break. That was the cause of the only accident I ever had with the truck. I was on Route 173, headed for the hospital. A man in front of me was going about thirty miles an hour and I couldn't pass him in the traffic. I had the siren going, and he could have pulled off on the shoulder. I don't know if he got excited, or what, but he suddenly slammed on his brakes and stopped. I hit his rear end. Not enough to do an any real damage. I stopped and checked to make sure everything was all right and went on to the hospital after calling the police on the radio."

Ernie can remember only two other minor accidents involving the Rescue Squad truck, all caused by this same lack of courtesy by drivers. One, when Fred Yates was driving—a car made a left turn in front of him. One when Dick Anderson was driving, and a car went through a caution light and collided with the truck. A little courtesy on the part of drivers would save Rescue Squad drivers some gray hairs—and maybe help them save a life.

Ernie moved to Antioch in 1946, and went to work for Strang's Funeral Home. He joined the squad in 1952 or '53—he isn't sure which. He served on the squad as secretary, president, lieutenant and now Captain.

We asked Ernie if there were laughs in the Rescue Squad calls sometimes. "Oh, sure," he said. "A lot of 'em you can't tell—they might not be funny to the people involved. I guess one of the funniest things I remember—it wasn't so funny at the time—was the time we got a call that there'd been a drowning at Petite Lake. Herman Holbek and I rushed out there. It was about 3 a.m.—not a soul in sight when we got where we'd been sent. We saw some boats anchored at the shore and ran down and started to take one. Some guy came tearing down to the shore and stuck a shotgun in Herman's stomach. He thought we were stealing the boat. Lucky for us the police drove up just then, and we got things straightened out. Nobody had been drowned, as it turned out."

The drownings are the toughest, Ernie says. Usually, the most you can hope to do is recover a body. Maybe it makes somebody a little easier in their mind. That's the most you can do.

It's the hardest physical work, with the least hope of real reward—rarely a chance to help to save a life. Sometimes they drag for days—hard, dirty work. Sad work.

Are they bothered much by the morbid and curious who dash to follow the squad? "Not much," Ernie says. "They go by streaks. Mostly kids. They'll all follow us for a while, then the police get on them and it stops. But you can bet none of the kids of the Rescue Squad members ever do it. They get their instructions."

Ernie's proud of the squad, and glad he belongs to it. "And remember," he says, "None of these fellows could do this job if their wives didn't cooperate. They're a wonderful bunch of girls, and they deserve a vote of thanks."

Happy Birthday!

For the past twenty-five years that siren on top the Rescue Squad building has been blowing on almost a daily basis. We sometimes take it for granted but can all feel confident and secure in the knowledge that a group of dedicated men will answer the call.

We therefore take pleasure in offering our sincere best wishes to the Rescue Squad on their 25th Birthday.

Antioch

The Early Years

By Doug Moberg

"It may be a frantic call for first aid at an automobile accident, or a cry for help from victims of a capsize boat. It may be the excited plea for an inhalator to revive a heart attack case, or a request for help at a fire, an electrical accident, poisoning, or gas suffocation. But, whatever it is and wherever it is, the Antioch Rescue Squad is ready, ever willing, and efficiently able to respond."

So read the Chicago Sunday Tribune of September 12, 1943. The squad had only been organized for three years when Eileen Burke of the Tribune wrote her feature story on the Antioch Rescue Squad. The squad had answered 279 calls at that date. "Whenever first aid could do it," Miss Burke praised, "lives were saved."

The launching of the squad was faced with many problems. No one could question the need for such an organization in the chain of lakes region, but how would it be financed? Equipment was needed and men, who would work without pay, would have to be recruited and trained.

Credit for the idea and the original hard work out of which grew Antioch's volunteer rescue squad goes to Captain Herman Holbek and two other charter members of the group, Herman Rosing and Laurel Powles. These men had been members of the Antioch fire department, and had become interested in the need for a rescue squad.

They made trips to Kenosha, Wisconsin, to study special first aid courses, and after a number of trips, were "able to start off on their own."

After selecting and training the "right kind" of volunteers, a truck and equipment had to be secured. The slogan became, "Never mind, we'll get it," and they did, through benefit dances, aid drives in the community, and in many instances "chipping in," the group finally gathered together enough to purchase the needed truck.

Piece by piece the squad gradually acquired its other needs which ranged from stomach pump to a fully equipped physician's kit.

And so the rescue squad was on its way. The work was hard and the hours were long. The squad members, even though all had family responsibility and everyday jobs, were in 1943 and are now, ready to give aid.

"There is never an hour any time," Captain Holbek explained, "when some members of the squad are not on special watch for calls."

The squad of 1943 had 11 active members and 10 members in reserve. Major Powles, Jim McMillen, Henry Quedenfeld, George W. Bartlett, Jr., and Howard Strang in 1943 had been called to military service. Active members were Capt. Holbek, Herman Rosing, Walter Scott, and Lloyd Murrie. Others included Einar Petersen, Charles Larson, Fred Yates, Henry Rentner, Bill Banedt, Morris Pickus, and R. F. Allner.

"But what do you get out of it?" was and is now a common inquiry.

"Sometimes we don't even get a thank you out of it," spoke Capt. Holbek. "But that doesn't bother us either—we have the personal satisfaction of doing a necessary job well." Captain Holbek could very well be answering the same question for the squad of 1964.

And so 25 years have passed; new names have been added to the squad rolls as has new equipment, and new techniques, yet Dr. Roy Williams' comment to the Chicago Tribune reporter, Eileen Burke is as appropriate today as it was in 1943.

"The rescue squad never says no to anything. I don't know what the community would do without them."

Lloyd Murrie

Lloyd "Red" Murrie is one of the first. Red joined the squad in 1940 when there were only seven or eight men. "Harry Greenlee gave us our first introduction to first aid training," Red reminisced.

Lloyd was one of the group's most active members until his duties as Township Supervisor forced him to take a more inactive role.

Red tried to recall some of the fellows who were on at the time he joined. "I remember Deke Powles, Jim McMillen, Harry Greenlee, Chuck Larson and Bill Banedt. Of course there were Herman Holbek and Herman Rosing."

"It seems to me that at that time the Village had something to do with it," Red said. "I remember that my father, Roy I. Murrie, served as the squad's secretary and treasurer those first few years."

Roy Murrie was Village Clerk at that time, a position he held for some 20 years.

Red chuckled as he recalled that the phone operators took the calls back in those days and just started phoning the boys, working from the top of the list down.

"Any revenue we received in those early days we had to raise ourselves," Red said. "We ran dances, raffles, whatever scheme we could come up with to raise a few dollars."

"One of the best things that ever happened was when the Lions Club took over the fund raising. We had a bigger territory then but it seems in spite of that we get fewer drownings now than we did then," Red commented.

Lloyd resides with his wife, Louise, at Rural Route 3, Antioch. We imagine things are a little lonely out there sometimes, now, as his two children, Michael, 21, and Marilyn, 18, are both attending Illinois College at Jacksonville, Ill. Mike is a senior and Marilyn is a freshman.

Red has been the township's supervisor for the past 9 years.

Everett Oftedahl

by Howard Shepard

Antioch's own sno man, Everett Oftedahl, joined the squad in the fall of 1946 and has been one of its most active members ever since. Ev has served as secretary, lieutenant, captain and president.

Ev, who owns and manages the Frostee Sno Company here in Antioch, recalls that he went with Chuck Larson on a drowning case. "Chuck asked me to join the squad after we returned."

"The call I'll never forget," Ev said, "was the time Herman Holbek and myself acted as midwives at the birth of twins." Ev didn't remember exactly when it was but thought it was around 1952. Neither the doctor on the case nor the woman suspected she would have twins.

"On the way to St. Therese Hospital in Waukegan we got as far as the viaduct at Skokie highway and Grand Avenue when we had to stop the truck and Herman delivered the first one. We got under way again and this time I got all the way to the hospital.

"Herman ran upstairs to get help and while he was gone the second one was born." Ev was happy to report that both mother and children came through in fine health and suffered no ill effects.

We asked Ev if he thought the Squad had changed much since he first joined in 1946.

"Basically it's the same," Ev said, "I think the interest and enthusiasm of the members is just as great today as ever. Some of the equipment has changed and our methods have improved but other than that I think it's pretty much the same. We have, I think, been able to give the public better service and at the same time make it little easier on the men.

"I think the participation by the members has made them, their families and the people they come in contact with more aware of the importance of the prevention of accidents," Ev said.

In commenting on the problems the squad runs into frequently, Ev thought that educating the public as to where first aid begins and where it ends and also how much to expect from the Squad would be a great help to both the public and the Squad.

Although Ev had no previous experience with rescue work he has taken all first aid courses available and now holds an instructor's rating.

Ev's wife, Elaine, helps in the business and when not at work they spend most of their free time at home with their two children, Laura, 12, and Glen, 15.

Ev and Elaine are avid hockey fans and rarely miss a game when the Blackhawks are playing in Chicago.

"We all feel compassion and sympathy for all the people we are called out to help but when it's a member of your own family—that's when it hits the hardest."

Ev had that unfortunate experience when he answered a call and found it was his own father. "He had suffered a stroke and we got to the hospital all right but he passed away the next day," Ev related.

"Why did I join the squad? I think probably for the same reason most of the other boys joined. It gives an opportunity to help people, maybe save a life or at the least ease some pain for someone."

Bob Wilton

Bob is one of the newest members of the squad. He joined eight months ago. Men were needed, he was available, and he thought it was a worthwhile organization.

He had misgivings when he first joined the squad—fear that he might not be able to cope with such things as bad accidents. He found out, as others of the squad have said they did, that you're too busy doing what has to be done to be personally affected. "It's been hardest where there were fatalities, especially if it's someone you know," Bob said.

Bob was born in Antioch on April 1, 1934. He graduated from Antioch High School in 1952 and Bradley University, where he was a member of the Theta Chi fraternity. He married Vicki Joyce of Chicago eight years ago. They have one daughter, Patty, six years old. He served in the army from 1956 to '58.

"Call 2141"

By Doug Risberg

An accident occurs—the Rescue Squad is needed. The first person on the scene calls 395-2141, the siren wails, and in minutes well trained, efficient men are at the scene.

When help is needed we automatically raise the phone, dial the number and expect the rescue squad to arrive. Little thought is given to the voice that receives the frantic call and contacts the squad.

Who is this voice? How does she notify the squad members? Is her job done as soon as the squad is on the scene?

The answer to these and many other questions were found during an interview with Viv Maplethorpe who is usually the efficient "voice" of the rescue squad.

Viv has been receiving calls for the squad since May, 1961. Since that time she has received requests ranging from animals in distress to serious auto accidents. "Most calls are very serious," she stated, "and of course all calls are treated seriously."

When asked if any calls were amusing, Viv immediately told of one she received from a woman who said that a terrible auto accident had occurred on a highway in front of her home. The caller said that "bodies were lying all over the road."

"Of course I immediately called the squad and then waited with anxiety for them to reach the scene. The report I received was far better than I had hoped. A man had run his car off the road. He had some laundry in his back seat which, when his door flew open had fallen out on the road. These were the 'bodies' the woman had seen from her house."

Viv has two other girls, Dolores Pierce and Kathy Haley, who work for her.

"When I am in need of a new operator, I receive many applicants, but after they learn what the job entails, few are interested in the job. Mrs. Maplethorpe explained that the girl has to be a 'special type' of person. She has to be able to accept responsibility. 'After all, a big part of the time we are dealing with people's lives.'"

The operator has to be familiar with the area. Many of the callers are excited and can't give enough information to tell the operator where exactly the squad is needed. It is on these occasions that experience and training is needed.

"We have to be able to get the information out of them," Viv explained. "One night I received a call from a woman whose husband had suffered a heart attack. She was so excited she couldn't tell me where she lived. I asked her to give me the name of her neighbor whom I then called. In this way I was able to get the squad to the correct address." Viv related other similar calls which, through her ability to think quickly, she was able to "drag" the needed information from the excited caller.

"Many people who call in are very excited and seem to think we are wasting our time asking for the exact location."

If there is one thing that Viv is afraid of on her job, it is fear of not getting the right directions. "What if we send the squad to the wrong place?" she asked. "It's a person's life that may be at stake. We want to make sure that we know exactly where help is needed."

Viv is very serious about her job and her responsibilities. All of her "girls" have at least 6 months training before they are left on the job alone. She is on duty 24 hours a day. A total of 834 calls have been received in the last three years. Each call averages a little over an hour and a half in length.

"We stay with the squad from the time they leave the garage until they return." One important duty of the operator is to keep a record of all the calls made by the squad.

One cannot appreciate the speed at which the squad is able to answer its calls of distress unless he examines the answering service log.

As recorded on May 18, of this year: auto accident near John's River Inn. The call was received at 3:50 p.m. The squad was on its way at 3:52; at the scene at 4:00; had victim at the doctor's at 4:25. Another call was in answer to a drowning, approximately six miles from the station. The squad was at the scene in exactly 10 minutes after the call was made.

When a tragedy occurs, it seems like an eternity before the squad arrives on the scene, but if one examines the log, he can see that very little time has actually passed.

"It's interesting work," Viv said, when asked why she provided the service. "I get a lot of satisfaction out of it. There are so few things that people do to aid one another and even if they only think of me as a voice, I still get a feeling of gratification knowing that I have helped."

After leaving Viv's house and while driving back to the office to write this report, I felt a real sense of security knowing that if tragedy struck my home, Viv or one of her well trained girls would be there to receive my call and get help on its way.

"A friend in need is a friend indeed." An old proverb, but one whose basic truth has been forcibly brought home to many who have found themselves in need.

The Antioch Rescue Squad has been "a friend in need" to countless hundreds in the twenty-five years since it was organized. Hundreds of strangers, friends, acquaintances, have felt the warmth of an outstretched hand, the comfort of a practiced hand binding up their wounds, the reassurance of a quiet voice stilling their terror.

We at State Bank of Antioch, who have stretched out a helping hand to hundreds in financial need since 1894, salute the Antioch Rescue Squad on its Twenty-Fifth Anniversary. Congratulations to every man who has been a "friend in need" down through the years, and to the many people and organizations who have supported its fine work.

Leonard Roblin

One of the "old timers" Leonard Roblin joined the squad around 1950. "I can't remember the exact circumstances that caused me to join," Leonard said, "but I always thought it was a fine thing for the community and I get a lot of self satisfaction out of helping someone in need."

Leonard resides at 913 David Street in Antioch with his wife Darlene and two children, Sheryl, 8, and Frank, 15. A veteran of World War II, Leonard is now the owner and proprietor of Roblin's Paint and Glass Store on Lake Street.

Roblin has served as a lieutenant on the Rescue squad and has been the secretary for the organization for the past ten years.

It's difficult to pick out one call from literally hundreds and say, "This was the one I remember most," but Len did cite one call that stands out in his mind.

"It was some years ago," Len said, "I can't even remember exactly when, but we received a call from the Mayor of DesPlaines requesting us to come down and drag for three bodies in the DesPlaines River."

"It seems that some people from DesPlaines who were summer residents of the Lakes area requested that the Mayor call us to help. I remember that Herman Holbek, Bill Dow, now deceased, Fred Yates, Ev Ofte-dahl and myself took the old Ford truck and drove down after I had closed my store around 6 p.m."

"We went right to work when we got there. Three people had gone over the dam in a canoe and capsized. We found two of them before we finally had to quit about midnight.

"The town people took us to a restaurant downtown and treated us to a meal. Just order anything you want and as much as you want," we were told. They were very appreciative for what we had been able to do and couldn't do enough for us.

"I recall one other instance when we were called to Evanston to help drag for bodies from a plane that had crashed in Lake Michigan."

"The Navy had already sent one of their barges out with a diver, but the water was so rough that when they opened the front of the barge to retrieve the diver, the barge swamped and sank, drowning the diver and two or three others. We couldn't obtain a suitable boat from which to work and the water was so rough there wasn't anything we could do."

It's not all agony and suffering, Leonard said. "One time a woman called so excited we couldn't understand her. She kept shouting 'She's down, she's down, she won't get up.' We finally managed to calm her enough to get the rest of the story. Her cow had slipped on the ice in her barn and was afraid to get up. We suggested she call a tow truck."

"Then there was that bad accident out on Grass Lake Road. Dismembered bodies lying all over the road, the woman said. We got out there and found that a bag full of laundry had spilled from someone's car and littered the highway with clothing."

"One of the main problems the squad has had to contend with throughout the years," Leonard said, "is getting complete and accurate information."

"Many times when people call they are so excited that they are unintelligible. We have even had calls where they shout into the phone, 'There's been an accident,' and then hang up."

"Then, too, some of these homes around the lakes area are very difficult to locate, the streets aren't marked, and most of the areas have no numbering system for the houses."

We asked Leonard about the public reaction at the scene when out on a call. "Generally it's very good," Len said. "Occasionally we get people who try to help but only hinder us by getting in the way. It would be better if they would stand aside and wait till they are asked for assistance. If we need assistance, believe me, we aren't the least backward about asking for it."

Howard Shepard

Howard's one of the newest members of the Squad, having joined in September of 1963.

Why did he join? He doesn't know. This is par for the course—that's the answer we got from most of the men. They couldn't quite put it into words.

Does he hope to remain on the squad when his year's probationary period is up? A definite Yes was his answer.

Why? we asked. "Say, these ARE hard questions to answer," opined Howard, who has been firing them at others.

Howard admits to some fear, when he first joined the squad, that "squeamishness" would make him unfit for Rescue Squad duty. He discovered, on his first call, what all good Rescue Squad men say they find out—you're just too busy helping someone to think of your own feelings till it's all over.

Howard's baptism by fire was a bad one—young Don Schroeder, working on an electric pole, was badly burned by electricity. Howard went on the call with two seasoned Rescue Squad men—Len Roblin and Ernie Westlund. When he came through that one O.K. Howard gained confidence that he could "stand the gaff."

Whatever his reasons for joining, or staying on, there's no doubt that Howard takes his work on the squad seriously. The first wall of the siren galvanizes him into action, and in the words of our own Mabel Sayles, "He weaves his way through the tortuous path of the back room of the Antioch News, and out the back door with a speed that would do credit to Native Dancer."

Howard's unmarried, the grandson of Mrs. Margaret Gaston, publisher of The Antioch News. He's Managing Editor of the Antioch News. He grew up at Lake Lotawana, near Kansas City, Mo., attended Lee Summit High School there, and spent two years at the University of Kansas and two years at the University of Missouri School of Mines. He's lived in Antioch since 1958, though he often spent summer months here in his youth.

Vivian Maplethorpe, Ernie Westlund and Mike Haley illustrate the routine when a call comes for the Rescue Squad.

An urgent call for help comes into the Antioch Answering Service. Within seconds, Viv Maplethorpe presses the button that blows the siren and brings Rescue Squad men rushing to the Squad building.

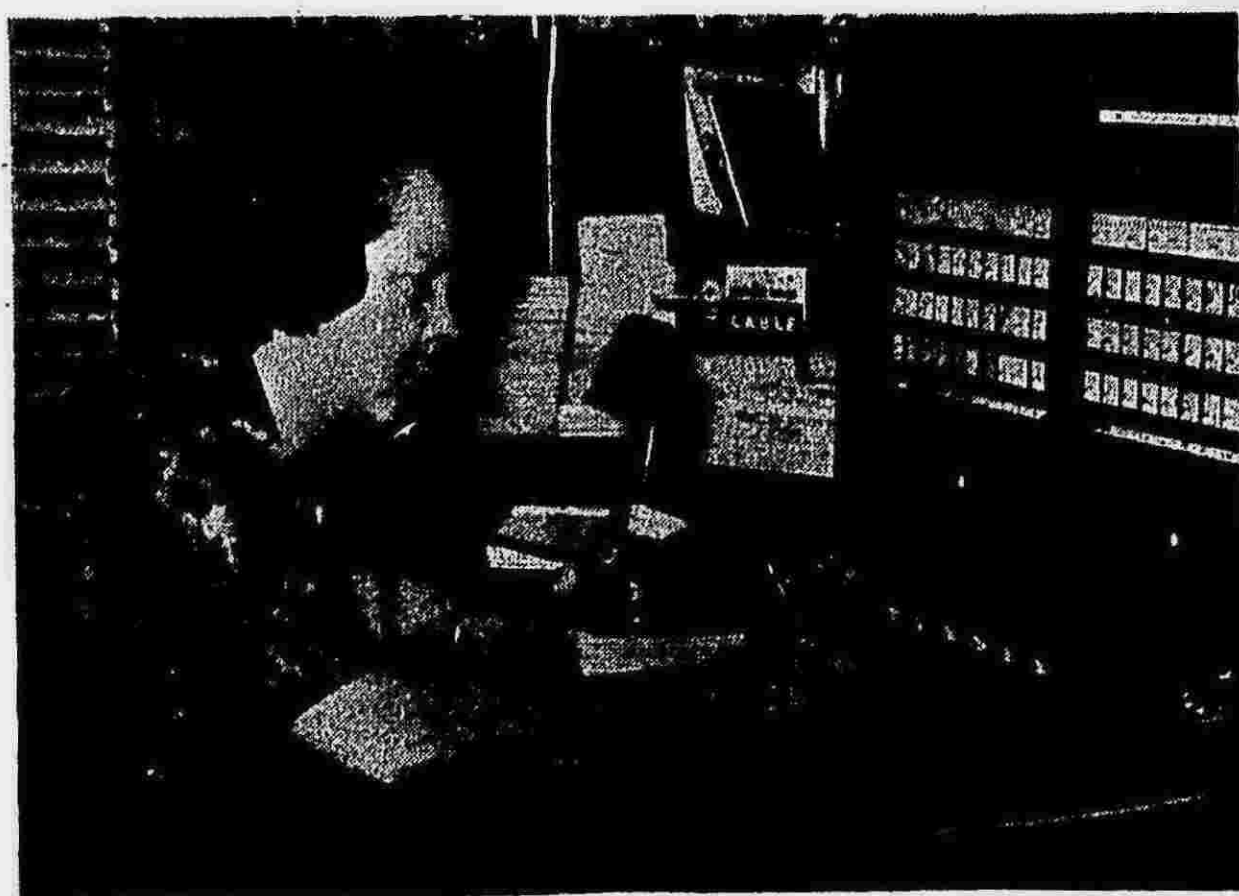

The first man at the building answers the phone that connects him to the Answering Service—a direct line. He is told the nature of the call and the location. If it's an auto accident with personal injury, it's a "1091".

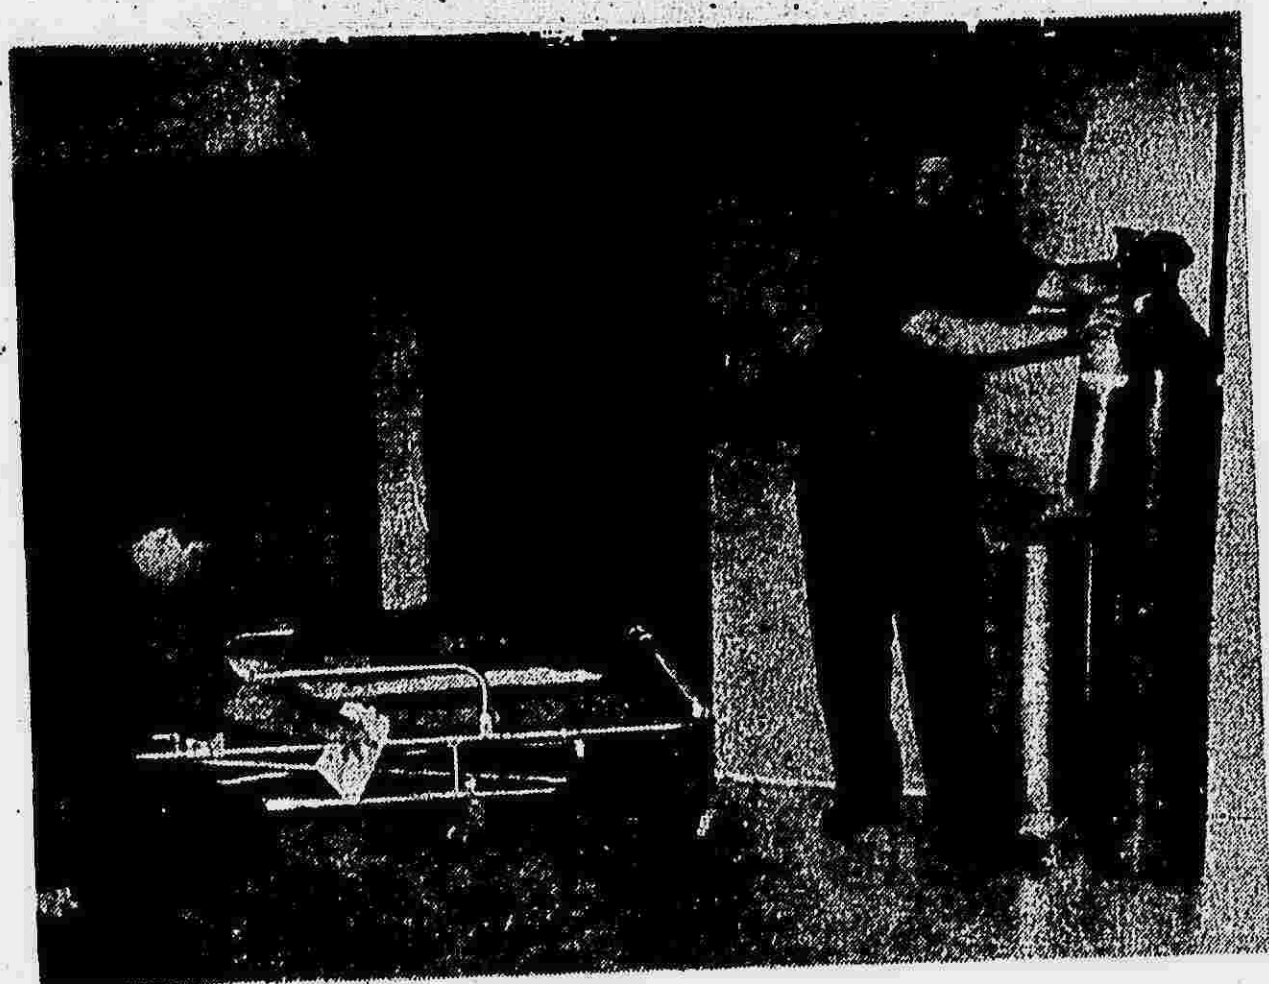

In the meantime, the second man to arrive has opened the garage doors and has the truck running.

As soon as they're on their way, one of the men pick up the two-way radio which connects them with the Answering Service, and report "560" or "561" (the numbers of the two trucks) are "10-8" (on the way.)

Vivian logs the time from the moment the call comes in until the men return to the garage, their mission finished. When they reach the scene, they're "10-7". Their location, via radio, is given to Vivian regularly—on way to hospital or clinic, or on the way home. Thus, if another call comes, Vivian knows whether she should call out the second squad, or direct the squad already on the road to the new call.

—Returned to the garage, the men replace any medications or First Aid supplies they have used, so that the truck is ready to roll again. Soiled blankets are removed and clean ones substituted and oxygen tanks are refilled. The truck is returned to "ready" before the men leave the squad building.

Lions Club Handle The Finances

Donations received by the Antioch Rescue Squad are now handled by Loren D. Sexauer and Edwin J. Sletten, representatives of the Lions Club.

Loren Sexauer is chairman of the Lions Club Rescue Squad Fund; Mr. Sletten is secretary and treasurer. Both have served continuously since 1949.

Before 1949, the offices were filled by Harry J. Krueger, chairman, and F. J. (Bud) Arnold, secretary-treasurer, both now deceased.

All donations are turned over to Mr. Sletten, whose volunteer services for the squad require a great deal of paperwork. He has receipt books, with stubs. A receipt is given or mailed to each donor carrying his or her name, the date, and the amount of the donation. Duplicate stubs are made out carrying the same information, which Sr. Sletten keeps for his records. From these stubs are compiled dists of donors which Loren Sexauer turns over to the Antioch News for publication and of which he keeps copies in his files.

Letters requesting donations for the Rescue Squad are generally mailed out to everyone in the area in July. Mr. Sexauer and his office help used to pretty well handle the mailing job by themselves; Rescue Squad members now take the envelopes and letters to the Rescue Squad building and "stuff" most of them themselves. There are a few other volunteers who regularly help out with this work, Mr. Sexauer says.

Memorials are getting to be a big item in Rescue Squad finances Mr. Sexauer says. Grateful families often request that donations be given to the Squad in lieu of flowers. A receipt is given to the giver, and a card sent to the family.

The territory from which the Squad draws financial support shrinks continually, Mr. Sexauer pointed out, as surrounding towns establish their own squads.

Many letters of appreciation for the work of the squad come to Mr. Sexauer's office, many from other states. There is even a letter from Germany. A letter was received from an out-of-state man who was a bystander at an accident when the Rescue Squad aided the victims. The bystander praised the fine work of the squad.

The 1964 Lions Club Rescue Squad Fund Committee, in addition to Mr. Sexauer and Mr. Sletten includes G. Molgard, W. Filiatreault, R. Erickson and W. Shepard.

Fred Yates

Fred Yates has been a member of the Rescue Squad for 20 years. He has no idea how many calls he's answered in those years, but they've been many.

"I never answered many calls during the day," Fred explained. "I was usually working. I went on the night calls."

Why did he join the squad? "I guess it would be hard to say," he said slowly. "It's just the satisfaction of knowing you're helping someone."

"I'll tell you," he said, "when I'm really glad I'm on the squad. We get a call to go out to somebody's home, maybe a little house in the country. There's an old couple living there, and one of them's had a stroke or a heart attack. We take 'em in to the hospital. And when you're ready to leave, they look up at you, kind of pitiful, and thank you. It makes you feel real good."

"Then of course," he grinned wryly, "there're the ones that glare at you when you come in and say, 'Where the hell have YOU been.' That's people, they're all different."

"It's funny," Fred continued. "You're called out, maybe to a traffic accident, and you pick someone up and take them to the hospital. You're busy, checking injuries and everything. It may be someone you know real well, but you don't really see their face. Not because it's smashed up or anything, you just don't think about who it is. Then, maybe, you get them into a hospital room or you're talking to a doctor or nurse, and all of a sudden you look down and say, 'Well, Hello there.' It's somebody you know."

Fred joined the squad at the same time as Red Murrie and Charlie Larson. They were all sworn in at the same time. At that time, he says, the members were all sworn in by the village clerk, and were under the jurisdiction of the Village Board, though they never received tax money. Harry Greenlee gave them their First Aid instruction. Greenlee was an Illinois Bell Telephone man, and gave First Aid classes, not just to Rescue Squad workers, but the general public.

Drownings are always tragic, Fred says. By the time someone calls the squad, and they get there, it's too late to do any good unless someone at the scene has the knowledge and presence of mind to start to work on them immediately.

One of the drownings he recalls vividly is one at Lake Catherine a good many years ago when six people drowned.

The squad dragged for hours, and, Fred says rather proudly, he and Red Murrie recovered five of the bodies, the other boat recovered the other one.

The most gratifying thing about drownings, Fred says, is that the number of them has been reduced so much, over the years. With more boats, faster traffic on the water, more people near the water, there are still fewer drownings.

After 20 years on the squad, Fred says, he's not quite as active as he used to be. He gets rheumatic twinges once in a while, and it worries him at times that if a twinge hit him when he was carrying someone on a stretcher he might drop them or something of the sort. So he's glad younger men are taking over more of the calls.

"You know, it never fails," he said cheerfully, "if you get a call where you have to carry a 200-pound man out on a stretcher, he's in a little upstairs bedroom or apartment, with the narrowest, steepest stairs you could find."

Fred came to Antioch about 1930. His wife, Fanny, was born and raised in their present home at 483 Lake St. She was a Westlake. They have a daughter, Barbara Lindholm, who graduated Saturday, June 6, from Northern Illinois University. They have one grandson, Barbara's son Robert, just about a year old.

Fred worked at Webb's Boat House about 16 years. Last week he went to work for Arrow Marine in Fox Lake.

Dan Dugenske

Dan Dugenske was probably one of the best qualified persons to ever join the Antioch Rescue Squad. Dan has not only been a first aid instructor for over ten years but he worked three and a half years with a private rescue unit under contract to the city of Madison, Wis.

Dan was also in the Medical Corps of the 32nd Division of the National Guard. He was an aide in the U. S. Marine Corps and is at the present time on the First Aid Committee of the Lake County Red Cross.

Dan came to the Squad in 1960 at the request of Ev Oftedahl and Marv Heath. "They were very short handed at that time and I guess because of my experience I was a natural choice."

"I was amazed at the great amount of accidents the Antioch unit handled compared to some of the other groups I have worked with," Dan said.

Outside of his regular duties answering first aid calls Dan keeps an eagle eye on the finances of the Squad. He has served as the unit's treasurer for the past two years.

When asked what he thought the main problems the Squad encountered in answering calls, Dan echoed the sentiments of most of the other members when he said, "Because of the tremendous territory we handle it is often difficult to locate some of the more remote areas. Unmarked streets and houses are a real problem. Most of the people are very co-operative about meeting us and leading us to the scene," Dan added.

One of the busiest periods Dan recalls was just this past winter. "We had three calls that night starting about 5 p.m. The last one came in about 3 a.m. and I remember it was one of those real pains."

"A kid had cracked up in his car and complained about a chest injury. He had been drinking heavily and the County Police instructed us to take him to the hospital in McHenry. It was one of the worst nights for accidents the county has ever had, I remember, and all the other hospitals were jammed. "The boy gave us a great deal of trouble all the way to McHenry and we had to use restraining straps. When we got there we had to wait for a doctor. The doctor couldn't find anything wrong and said we could do anything we wanted with him except leave him there.

"We called the county police on the radio and they instructed us to take him back to Fox Lake and leave him with the Fox Lake Police Dept.

"Once we got him into the Fox Lake station he sat up, talked very politely to the officer in charge and walked under his own power to a cell in the back. We finally got back home around 6 a.m."

Dan is the funeral director for the Strang Funeral Home in Antioch. His wife, Joanne, is kept pretty busy caring for their two children, Paul,

3, and Andrew, 2, at their home at 579 Parkway.

"Joanne is very understanding about my work with the Squad," Dan said. "She never complains about the many hours away from home it requires."

Dates & Data of the Squad

The first plans for the Antioch Rescue Squad developed within the Antioch Fire Department, sometime in 1939. There is general agreement that Herman Holbek, Herman Rosing and L. D. Powles were the nucleus of the Rescue Squad group.

Records of the early years of the squad are mostly non-existent. As Einar Petersen, one of the first firemen to join the group said, "As I remember it, the only records we kept of the first meetings were on scraps of paper."

For that reason, there may be conflicts in stories as to exact dates of various actions of the squad.

Early records show that Richard Allner, Howard Strang, James McMillen, Clarence B. Shultis, Walter Kraft, Einar Petersen, John L. Horan and James Mullaney joined the squad almost immediately, probably within the first year.

Inclusion of the Rescue Squad as a branch of the fire department didn't seem to work out, and on September 9, 1941, a resolution was passed at a meeting of the Antioch Volunteer Fire Department separating the Rescue Squad and the Fire Department.

The first Rescue Squad truck was purchased in 1940. It was paid for on June 7, 1940. It cost about $800.00.

At the time the Rescue Squad and the Fire Department separated, several of the firemen dropped off the Rescue Squad to remain with the Fire Department and vice versa.

Raising money in the first years was a problem. On August 1, 1947, the Lions Club signed an agreement with the squad to help with the financial affairs. The signatures of H. Krueger and George Bartlett are affixed to this agreement.

A story in the Chicago Tribune of September 12, 1943, list the calls handled to date—107 highway accidents, 31 drownings, 37 heart cases, 53 hospital cases, 28 fire calls, 4 poison cases, 17 strokes and 2 electrical cases.

Construction was completed on a new home for the squad, next to the Antioch Fire Department, in 1952.

A Chevrolet truck was purchased in 1949. A new 1956 Olds Squad truck was purchased in 1956; and in 1960 and 1963 GMC trucks, which the squad still has, were purchased.

The 1940 truck was sold to the Lake Villa Rescue Squad after it was formed. They later sold it to Bungalow Meats, and it is still in use.

The 1949 Chevy was sold to the Antioch Fire Department and is still in use to carry auxiliary equipment.

The 1956 Olds was sold to Patenjim for use as an ambulance at the Kenosha County Speedway in Wilmot.

In the 1953 Lions Club letter to prospective donors, a news story is reprinted telling of the squad answering 5 calls in 24 hours, three of them heart attack victims who were given oxygen and recovered.

The 1955 letter enumerates the calls made in the past year—201 calls. Of these, 118 were accidents, 76 heart attacks, 53 respiratory cases, 33 miscellaneous, and 11 accompanying fire alarms.

For many years, the squad answered all fire calls. The practice was abandoned in about 1945 or 1946, although the squad still answers fire calls when necessary.

The 1958 Lions Club letter lists the calls made the previous year—336. These included 54 heart attacks, 29 strokes, 64 house cases, 122 accidents, 4 drownings, 36 hospital cases and 27 accompanying fire alarms and miscellaneous.

The squad started back in 1939 with a bare minimum of equipment—a resuscitator, a couple of blankets, no truck, and a few men with a great deal of determination.

The Rescue Squad now has a building, two trucks, the latest and finest in rescue equipment, medications, and bandages, and a group of men with the same determination as that of early group, plus an immense pride in the traditions and record of a fine organization.

Jim Fields

If there were such a category, gay, insouciant Jim Fields probably would have been voted in school "Least likely to join the Rescue Squad."

Not just because he appears to take the world's problems lightly. A more fundamental weakness made participation in such an organization unlikely. From childhood, Jim simply couldn't stand the sight of blood. The sight of a cut finger was enough to make him faint and ill.

When he joined the Air Force, the Armed Forces exhibited their usual uncanny ability to place men in whatever occupation seemed least suited to their talents. Jim was assigned to the Medical Corps.

When he was assigned to a hospital in Weidbaden, Germany, Jim promptly went to his captain and asked for a transfer to other duty. He explained his problem, and tried to assure the officer that he would be useless as a medic.

The captain listened sympathetically and said, "O.K., I'll assign you to the laundry room. You shouldn't have any trouble there."

Jim languished in the laundry room for six weeks. Hours of solitude, relieved only by the entrance of a busy nurse requisitioning a couple of clean sheets and pillowcases, were too much for Jim's gregarious nature. He visited the captain again.

"I can't take that," he pleaded, "Please, a transfer to another branch."

"Now, let's see," said the captain, "I'm sure we can use you somewhere. How about showing movies to the patients? No blood there."

Ah, contact with people! Bringing pleasure and entertainment to suffering people! He lasted about six weeks on that job, too, before he'd "had it."

Another visit to the captain. Another plea for a transfer.

"I think we'll kill or cure you," said the captain, evidently as fed up as Jim. "I'm assigning you to the emergency room."

"The first two days were rough," Jim says. "Then I got interested."

After his emergency room service was over, Jim served in just about every department in the hospital, including several months in the delivery room. He had long since forgotten his worry about the sight of blood, and gained a fund of knowledge and experience that has stood him in good stead in his work with the Rescue Squad.

Jim doesn't think any one type of call is any more difficult than the other. "You take them all, and do what can to help," he said.

One of the problems the squad has that few people realize, Jim says, is the legal difficulties that arise because of Antioch's proximity to the State Line, particularly where a death is involved. A resident of Antioch, injured perhaps just across the State Line, or a heart attack victim or his family, who has faith in the squad and depends on them for emergency treatment, finds it difficult to understand that state laws may delay their treatment by the squad.

Jim lives at 621 Parkway in Antioch with his wife, Gail and three children—Linda 5; Jodi, 6, and Jack 3. He joined the squad in 1956. He was born and raised in Antioch. He attended college for one year.

Jim now works at Quadriell, Inc., on Grass Lake Road near Antioch.

Carl Seemann

Anyone who knows Carl Seemann very well would agree that there aren't many things that would hold him speechless very long. It took a small three year old girl to do the job.

A sad expression came over Carl's normally smiling happy countenance as he related the story to us over coffee not long ago.

"It was one of the real sad ones," Carl said. "We answered the call and found that a six months old baby had been stricken with pneumonia. We administered oxygen and did everything we could to aid the doctor but it was just no use."

"I remember there was a lot of confusion going on around us but we were so busy working that we had no time to pay much attention. We finally packed up our equipment and went back to take up the day where we had left off."

"It must have been over a month later when it happened. I was working up in the front of my store when a woman came in with a little girl. I got one of the shocks of my life when the child looked up at me and said, 'Look Mommy, there's the man that took sister to God.'"

"If I had to pick out the one call I'll always remember, that would be the one," Carl said. Carl joined the squad in 1961 at the request of Leonard Roblin. "They needed day men very badly then," Carl relates, "and I was available most of the time."

Carl is the only member of the squad whose home is not in Antioch. He lives in Lake Forest with his wife, Pat and two daughters, Lori, 4, and Debra, 2.

Most people will recognize him as the owner and operator of Carl C. Seemann Cleaners on Lake Street in Antioch.

Carl was not a newcomer to first aid work when he came on the Rescue Squad. He served in the Air Force and part of his training was a hitch working in a hospital. The Air Force gave him his first knowledge of first aid and since then he has taken two other courses and a refresher course.

"Problems? I'd say our main problems would be the lack of street signs in the subdivisions, and dogs. The fellows kid me a lot about it but I am deathly afraid of dogs. It would be a big help if the subdivisions would put up signs locating the roads and streets," he added.

Carl's trade-mark on the Rescue Squad is his track ability. If you happen to be downtown some day when the Squad whistle blows and you can make it over to Broadway in less than 23 seconds, Carl will be the one in the black pants, churning down the street, one hand pumping with each stride and the other held over his breast pocket to keep his supply of pencils from flying out.

Bob Oddsen

"I always thought it was a real good outfit and I wanted to become a part of it."

That's the way Bob Oddsen felt back in 1958 when he asked to join the Squad and in talking with him, we get the impression that his feelings haven't changed any.

Bob's wife Garnet and his three children, Lu Ann, Chris and Kathy Lynn, also take great pride in Bob's efforts for the Squad. "It makes you feel real good when people walk up to say thanks after you've helped someone in need," Bob said.

"I can't remember any really unusual or extraordinary calls," Bob said, "the ones you always remember, of course, are the ones where something bad happened," he added.

"I do remember once I answered a call very late at night. I lived right across the street from the building then. When the whistle blew I got up and went flying over to the building in pretty much a state of 'undress'."

"I ran into the building and found myself in a room full of people, all as shocked as I was. It seems that one of the members was holding a wedding reception for his son."

Bob had to stop and think for a while when we asked him about some of the difficulties the Squad encounters in taking first aid calls. "I guess the thing that aggravates me most is people who really need our help and through plain stubbornness refuse to allow us to do anything for them," Bob finally answered.

"I am probably saying this because we just had one of these just a few minutes ago and it's fresh in my mind," he added. "On seven out of ten of these calls we have to go back, many times that same day or night."

"I think a great percentage of the people really appreciate our efforts," Bob commented. "There are some who take the Squad for granted but, thankfully, most people realize we can only serve to the extent that we are supported."

Does your work with the Squad ever interfere with your home life? "Sometimes," Bob replied. "Garnet is very understanding, though. I think she is proud of the fact I am a member of the Squad."

"She's the one who has to boot me out when we get those calls at 3 a.m. I never hear the radio when it goes off and she has to wake me up."

Bob has been in and around Antioch nearly all his life and presently lives at 434 Harden Street. He attended the University of Illinois for a year and now works for the Vos Construction Company of Antioch.

Ernest Westlund said, "Remember, none of these men could do this job if their wives didn't cooperate."

So we talked to some of the wives to find out how it is to have the whistle blow, and your husband fly from the house just when dinner is ready, or guests are present, or in the middle of the night.

The wives were unanimous in a philosophical acceptance of the inconvenience, and proud of the job their husbands are doing on the squad.

"Oh, it's inconvenient at times, like when you're having a party," Elaine Oftedahl said. "But it never really bothers me."

Elaine has reason to appreciate the value of the Rescue Squad personally. They very possibly saved her daughter's eyesight.

Several years ago Laura, now 12 years old, had been ill all day with what her mother assumed to be the flu. When Dr. Thain examined her, he felt there was something other than flu concerned, and recommended that Mrs. Oftedahl call Laura's eye doctor, a Chicago doctor. Ev was out on a squad call with Bill Dow, and had taken a patient to Victory Memorial hospital. The Chicago doctor recommended that the girl be brought immediately to Augustana Hospital in Chicago, where he would meet them. Dow and Oftedahl returned, and immediately took Laura to the Chicago hospital. The doctor told them that she had a glaucoma attack and would probably have lost her eyesight within two hours if not promptly treated.

Ev has belonged to the squad since a year before they were married. Elaine expects him to continue to be a member, and approves. "It's the most important organization he's ever belonged to," she says.

The only calls that shake him up are the ones involving small children. "Like if he's out on a call where a child gets hurt riding a bike, sometimes he comes back and lectures to our kids about being careful," Elaine says.

The Oftedahls are proud of the Antioch Rescue Squad—probably everyone in Antioch is. Elaine remembers the time her brother-in-law wrote to say that he had seen a picture of the Antioch Rescue Squad aiding an accident victim. The picture was part of a display in the lobby of General Motors Building in Detroit.

"But we're both happy now that some of the younger men are taking over more of the night calls, and a lot of the day calls," Elaine says. "There were a few years when it seemed like Herman Holbek and Ev took most of the day calls. It's helped a lot since Carl Seemann, Howard Shepard and Bob Wilton joined the squad."

The Oftedahls also have a son, Glen, 15 years old.

Barbara Westlund, too, dismissed the inconvenience of untimely Rescue Squad calls with a shrug. "It's Ernie who's inconvenienced," she said. "And if he thinks it's worth it, why should it bother me? If he gets called just when he's starting to eat. I try to keep it warm for him."

"During summer weekends the men have a schedule," she pointed out. "Certain men are on duty certain days. So we plan our outings accordingly. We arrange to go somewhere when Ernie's not on call."

The children, Mrs. Westlund says, simply accept their father's work on the squad. The 4-year-old, she says, is curious as to what happened when her father goes out on a call. The older children are only interested if it involves someone they know.

Gail Fields' husband, Jim, has been on the squad six or seven years, she says. Like the other wives, she's proud of his part in a fine organization.

"I think the people who support the squad with their donations deserve a lot of credit, too," she said. "The response to their letters is amazing, I think. So many of these letters from other organizations must end up in the wastebasket, but not the Rescue Squad."

You get used to arranging your schedule to fit the hours when your husband's not on call, Gail says. The only time it seems irksome is when you stay home all day on a holiday or Sunday and the whistle never blows.

Jim won't leave town when he's on duty. His Sunday morning golf is sacred, except when he's on Rescue Squad duty. "I know, he won't give up that Sunday morning golf for anything else. But if it's his Sunday on duty, he just stays home."

"The only time I worry," Gail said, "is when he's driving to the squad building to answer a call. Five of the men live right near each other here. Some day they are all going to go shooting out when the siren blows and there'll be a grand smash-up."

Jim worked as a medic during the war. He gets much pleasure from helping others, Gail says, and there is never any thought of giving it up.

Like other wives, she says, "Only the little children bother him. When they're hurt, it bothers him."

Cathy Haley's husband, Tom, has been on the squad six years. It's a good organization and Tom has learned a lot by being on the squad, she believes. He's helped to deliver a couple of babies, among other things.

meals or in the middle of the night doesn't bother, she says. But the squad has influenced their lives a great deal. They're looking for a home, and Tom insists that it be in Antioch so that he can continue to be on the squad.

Tom is unaffected by most calls, Cathy says. "But the minute he walks in the house, I can tell by his face if a little child was involved. He's upset afterwards if a child is hurt."

Cathy has a contact on her own with the Rescue Squad—she works part time at the Antioch Answering Service, which now takes all Rescue Squad calls. Her work there has shown her how completely the public depends on the Rescue Squad to solve all she smiled, "a woman called for the Squad, all excited. She had a mare in foal and wanted the Squad to take the horse to the vet."

The wives all enjoy Ladies' Night—a once-a-year affair when the men of the squad invite their wives for a social evening. In recent years, another social affair for the wives of squad members has been instituted—a picnic at the Antioch Pool. They all enjoy this too, Cathy says, and the wives, naturally, prepare the refreshments.

Tom Haley

Tom Haley still remembers the accident that prompted his desire to join the Rescue Squad. "I was about 17 years old then," Tom said, "and the accident occurred right in front of our home on Trevor road."

"I was one of the first persons on the scene and helped the boys on the squad when they got there. I had always had great admiration for the rescue squad and the men on it, and that particular accident settled it for me. As soon as I was old enough I decided I would try to join."

Tom's youthful desire came true in 1958 when he became a member of the Antioch Rescue Squad. Tom lives at 1017 Bishop Street with his wife Cathy and two children, Steven, 4, and Mark, 6. Tom is a graduate of a course in advanced electronics, taken through the cooperation of his employer, Illinois Bell Telephone Company.

In addition to his regular duties making first aid calls Tom's position as the group's president takes up much of his free time.

Since joining in 1958 Tom has been on just about every kind of call imaginable. He has assisted in the delivery of three babies. Tom still remembers his first drowning case. "It was a six year old boy and I had to be the one to get him."

"There have been a lot of changes in equipment and technique since I came on the squad," Tom said. "We do our best to keep up with the times and the growing population of the area."

Mike Haley

Mike Haley at 21 years of age is the youngest member of the Rescue Squad and one of the most recent additions to the unit's roster.

Mike is employed as a lab technician at the Kleinschmidt Division of SCM (Smith, Corona and Marchant). He resides with his parents at Rte. 3, Trevor Road.

Mike's brother Tom has been a member of the Rescue Squad for a number of years so the idea of first aid rescue work is not a new one to him. Mike was assistant Scout Master for the Boy Scout troop here in Antioch for five years and acted as first aid instructor to the boys for much of that time. He holds a regular and advanced Red Cross first aid card.

Since coming to the Squad in September of 1963 Mike hasn't had the opportunity to make as many calls as other members because his job takes him out of town every day.

In his brief span as a member, one of the continuous problems that he has noticed as far as the Squad doing their job "is the interference of unauthorized people. They are trying to help but actually just get in the way and form a hindrance."

"I enjoy being given the opportunity to give service and help people in need," Mike commented. "None of the fellows enjoy the work but I think they all get a great deal of self-satisfaction in the fact that we are giving aid, I know I do."

Congratulations!

Einar Petersen

Einar Petersen joined the Rescue Squad about six months after its formation, while it was still a unit of the Fire Department. When the resolution was passed separating it from the Fire Dept., he left the Fire Dept. and remained on the squad. He was an active member of the squad until about three years ago, when the press of business and the fact that he isn't quite as young as he was made him decide to give up active membership. He's still a member of the squad, and answers calls occasionally where there's need.

Trying to remember dates and names from those first years, Einar gave up. "Those first meetings, the only records we kept were bits and scraps of paper," Einar said. "We were just struggling to get going, and raise money for a little equipment. We never figured, then, it'd build up to what it finally became and now is."

Einar was born and raised in Antioch. He and his wife, Leona, have five daughters and one son, June Crichton, Lake Villa; Virginia Kovak, Skokie; Doris Hatton, Waukegan; Phyllis Ballstreri, Antioch; Siggie MacNamer, Milwaukee, and Richard Petersen, at home.

Einar is circulation manager for the Lakes News Service.

Don Lubkeman

Don Lubkeman watched in helpless anticipation as the Rescue Squad worked on his father, the victim of a coronary heart attack.

It was Don's 21st birthday celebration and it also marked the day Don decided he wanted to become a member of the Antioch Rescue Squad.

In May of 1963 Don was inducted into the squad as a probationary member as is their custom. Last month Don became a full fledged member.

"I travel all over in my work and my knowledge of first aid gives me a real confidence that I will be able to handle any emergency that might come up," Don said. "It has also helped out at home. The family is more aware of accidents and their prevention."

Don lives on North Avenue, Antioch, with his wife, Justine, and two children, JoAnne, 5, and Lonnie, 2. He is the owner and operator of the Lubkeman Landscaping Company.

"Crowds around accident scenes and the right of way on the road seem to cause us the most difficulty," Don said. "I get a lot of self-satisfaction out of squad work and plan to continue it for a long time," he said.

Herman Rosing

Herman is one of the three men who joined forces to form what finally became the Antioch Rescue Squad. He, Herman Holbek and L. D. "Deke" Powles were the three men whose work and determination built a fine idea into a fine organization.

Herman Rosing and Clarence Shultis were the original members of the resuscitator unit in the Fire Department. Though Clarence joined the Rescue Squad, he finally chose membership in the Fire Dept. to the Rescue Squad. Herman stuck with the Rescue Squad through its formative years, retiring from both departments in 1946 or 1947, when a back injury and ill health forced him to stop such activities.

The Antioch Rescue Squad was guided by Art LaCrosse and Howard Gatley of the Police and Fire Rescue Squad of Kenosha, Wis. Rosing, Holbek and Powles studied regularly in Kenosha for about a year to learn First Aid, and were made honorary members of the Kenosha Squad. The Kenosha Squad cooperated with the Antioch men, coming down here to help drag for drowning victims.

It was the high number of drownings that made the three men determined to found the squad, Herman says. "We made up our minds to have the finest Rescue group anywhere, and I think we succeeded.

"This was the first such organization in the state, and I think the fine work our squad did is the reason the other squads were formed all around us. We went down and taught a lot of those fellows their First Aid."

The men used ordinary cars at first in their First Aid work. This meant delay in loading up the necessary equipment when they were called. Herman Holbek was their publicity man, Rosing says, and did a fine job of getting donations. John Horan helped in this area, too. Articles in the Chicago Tribune and the Waukegan News, wangled by the two men, built up the squad's funds, till finally they had enough for their first truck. Rosing and his father owned the Ford agency in Antioch, and got the truck at cost.

That early truck speeded things up, eliminating the need to load equipment, but it was not used as an ambulance.

"I was against the ambulance idea," Herman says, "but the majority felt it was needed, and it seemed to work out all right.

"We used to be always out begging money for equipment, and it got to be too much, along with the Rescue work," Herman said. "I was the instigator of the move to get the Lions to sponsor us, and help with the financial end. Some of the men were against it. They were afraid the Lions Club would try to 'run' the squad. But we went to a meeting and the Lions Club voted to sponsor us. I think it's been a wonderful thing for the squad."

So, through the years, the Squad resolved its differences without affecting the solidarity of the organization.

Calls for help were made directly to the places of business or the homes of the men, Herman said. First, to him and Clarence Shultis, when the unit was part of the Fire Department, then to Herman Holbek at the Ben Franklin Store. Whoever got the call rushed to the Fire Department and blew the whistle, and one or two of the other men came.

"The night operator at the Antioch Exchange was a Mrs. Smoak," Herman said. "She had a special way of ringing the phone when it was a call for the squad. I could tell the minute the phone rang."

James McMillen, Burt Anderson and Earl Yates owned a radio store in Antioch, and built the first two-way radio the squad owned, and gave it to them. Yates and Anderson had 1st Class radio operators' licenses. This was during the war, and the men had to take lessons and pass a Federal examination to qualify as radio operators before they could use the radio.

"We connived for every bit of equipment we could get in those early years," Herman reminisced. "Somebody would know somebody, and we got all kinds of equipment for nothing, or almost nothing."

One of their big troubles in the early days was finding the places they were called to. Excited people gave poor directions, the squad covered a very large area, there were no street names to guide them.

"I have no regrets for the time I devoted to the squad," Herman said. "Though I guess we missed a lot because of it. We used to stay home nearly every weekend, to be available. One man, in uniform, used to stay at the squad building all day Sunday, on duty."

Mrs. Rosing agreed that it had certainly tied them down. "I think the Memorials people give now, donations to the squad instead of flowers, are a wonderful idea," she said. "Like the books they give to the Library, it's a real Memorial."

George Bartlett

George Bartlett, born and raised in Antioch, was one of the early members of the squad, having joined about 1941. He served actively for 12-15 years. He's still a member of the squad, though not active. However, he says, it has always been understood that any of the inactive members are on call in an emergency.

He studied First Aid under Harry Greenlee. "We always thought very highly of him (Greenlee)," Bartlett said. "Perhaps he influenced me to join the squad."

Two bad accidents stand out in his mind—one on Route 173, when a man burned to death; another fatality on Deep Lake Road, at the hill which has since been cut down.

He remembers one day, too, when they were called on three separate drownings—one at Channel Lake, one at Lake Marie and one at Lake Catherine. He thought this was in 1942.

He always found heart attack cases depressing, George said. "They're time-consuming," he said, "and it's a struggle from start to finish, and you never know whether or not they'll make it."

George attributes the success of the Rescue Squad as a fine organization to good leadership, and to the fact that they are careful in selecting members. The fine cooperation the squad has received, financially, from the Lions Club and the general public has contributed much to its success, too, he says. So has the cooperation of village officials, he pointed out. Every administration has cooperated with the organization.

George Bartlett contributed much to the squad when he perfected their dragging device. He devised a collapsible dragging bar, easy to store in the trunk and to handle, and almost weedless.

Their first dragging was done with a grappling hook, he said. Then they progressed to a rigid T-Bar, with

Harold Mason

Harold Mason joined the Antioch Rescue Squad in March of 1963.

He wanted to be a part of the squad because of the good work that they do, he said.

Harold moved to Antioch about four years ago, and has been a member of the Antioch Police force for one year. He and his wife, Erna, have two children, Richard, 17, a student at ACHS, and Linda, 13 years old.

Before coming to Antioch he was with Central Burglar Alarms for 12 years.

wire bracing and several hooks.

He devised a hinged type, without the wire bracing which caught weeds. He manufactured a few himself, which were purchased by other Rescue Squads.

It will be a boon to the Rescue Squad, Mr. Bartlett says, when Countryside Hospital is built. The long run to the hospital has always been one of the hardships.

A hospital nearby will never end the need for the Squad, though, he says. "No hospital or doctor can be always available in emergencies," Mr. Bartlett commented. "The squad is. It's a wonderful organization, and I feel that it has been a privilege to be a member."

Mr. Bartlett's father, George, Sr., was mayor of Antioch for 25 years. His wife, Katherine, was originally from Kenosha. They have one daughter, Holly, 12 years old, born on Christmas Day.

He had some First Aid training before he joined the squad.

Drownings are the worst, Harold says. His biggest thrill since he joined the squad was when they revived an apparently lifeless child (not a drowning victim) and the child lived.

His wife has never voiced a complaint on the time he spends with the squad, Harold says. His squad calls have a great impact on his 17-year-old son, particularly when he hears about some of the accidents.

If Harold has a complaint, it's motorists who disregard the siren and red light of the squad. "Please," he says, "When you see the red light, try to clear the road."

Ken Rentner

Ken Rentner is the newest member of the Antioch Rescue Squad, having joined on March 2, 1964. He is also the first second-generation squad member. His father, Henry Rentner, was a member of the squad before him.

His Dad's having been on the squad influenced Ken to join, but more than that, he feels, he says, "that it's a select group and it's an honor to belong to it."

His first call was the hardest, he says, because he was nervous about it. "I had butterflies in my stomach till I got that call over with," Ken said. "It was an easy one, fortunately, and I quit worrying after that."

"I've been on two bad ones since," Ken said. "One, a woman had two fingers cut off, and the other a fellow badly burned. I found out I could handle it all right."

Does he hope to remain on the squad? "If they'll have me, I sure do," Ken said. (Rescue Squad members serve a year's probation. At the end of the year, the squad members vote on whether or not he becomes an official member of the squad.)

It's the only organization Ken has ever joined in his life. When the matter of joining the squad came up, his wife, Nancy Lee, encouraged him to join.

The Rentners live at 394 1st St. in Antioch, and have three children—Diana, 7; Deborah, 5, and Bill, 2.
